Re: BOARD/SUPERINTENDENT COMMENTS

Mr. Bowers recognized the 43 MCPS teachers who are among the 117 Maryland teachers who have achieved certification from the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards this year. MCPS teachers constitute 37 percent of the teachers in Maryland who achieved national certification this year. Eight of these teachers are from James Hubert Blake High School, the greatest number among MCPS schools this year. The total number of MCPS teachers who have achieved national certification has grown to 120.

Mr. Bowers congratulated student athletes and their coaches for winning state championships.

Mrs. O'Neill announced that on Monday, January 26, 2004, there will be a rally in Annapolis for the full funding of the Thornton Commission’s recommendations. MCCPTA, MCEA, SEIU 500, and MCAASP are sponsors.

Mr. Felton noted that many Board members had attended legislative breakfasts over the past month. He commended the community for its strong support of public education.

Mr. Lange reported that most of the County Council was present at the MCCPTA forum on the operating budget, and there was a tremendous interest and support for the budget. He had recently visited the Edison Center, John F. Kennedy High School, and Lakewood and New Hampshire Estates elementary schools, and he was impressed by the interaction between students and staff.

Re: DISCUSSION

Mr. Lange was concerned about the overall Skills for Success and the non-academic indicators. MCPS should be preparing students for personal skills and critical thinking. Mr. Fulton replied that there is a value for those skills, and, if they are valued, they are reported.

Mrs. O’Neill asked if the non-academic indicators will be defined. Will another column be opened on the report card? Dr. Harvey replied that the development committee is working on the first and second grade non-academic indicators. Mrs. O’Neill asked if the non-academic indicators would appear on next year’s report cards for all students. Dr. Harvey said those indicators will be reported and the list will come to the Board in April.

Mr. Lange thought it would not only be a listing of the indicators, but a clarification of the range of behaviors. Dr. Harvey replied that staff was developing rubrics for non-academic indicators. Ms. Cox explained that a report card will have the same grades, but the elements of the grade will be different, beginning in September for Grades 1–12.
Mr. Felton stated that although there would be information about effort, it would have no impact on the academic grade. However, parents were concerned that grades currently are not based on “on-level” academic requirements. For example, an “A” is based on the assigned work but the achievement is based on below grade-level work. Mr. Fulton responded that this grading will not change next year, but there will be indicators of above or below grade level.

Ms. Cox thought the discussion needed to separate the meaning of the grade from the reporting, and it takes time to develop capacity. Next year there would be an indication that the child is working above or below grade level with comments of explanation. Mr. Fulton further explained that staff will phase in the meaning of the grade and develop the report card.

Ms. Cox noted that there had been a lot of work with stakeholders to explain the philosophical change, such as academic grades and learning skills. After the Board takes action, she noted that staff will develop rubrics for non-academic skills. She asked if there would be sufficient training for staff to implement this change. Ms. Collins stated that staff currently was meeting with school staff to assure that the content and message are consistent. To that end, staff development will prepare training plans for further implementation at the school level.

Mr. Felton understood the goals, but he was concerned about the capacity to provide training within seven months. He thought MCPS could train the trainers and develop materials, but that was different from training everyone.

Mr. Sanghvi stated that it was a different philosophy for students and teachers. He thought there was not adequate time to change the “mind set” of teachers, parents, and students.

Mr. Lange said there are a wide variety of staff development activities and the grading and reporting training will be added.

Mrs. O’Neill was concerned about how the system would communicate with parents. Students have to be informed and educated on the new philosophy. Dr. Harvey agreed and said staff would develop a handbook for teachers, parents, and students to ensure consistency for the implementation of the policy.

Mr. Sanghvi had heard that students felt like guinea pigs since grades cannot be piloted. He said this implementation scared him, and he has been at the policy committee and Board meetings. If this policy does not turn out as expected in the first year, students will be hurt. He asked why the policy was not implemented in the earlier grades, so that students could become accustomed to the new philosophy. Ms. Cox asked whether it was possible that a student who had done well for three years could fail under the academic meaning of the grade. Mr. Fulton believed that there could be grade changes, but not grade failures. The policy is not punitive, and the grade will be based on what the student has achieved.
Ms. Cox asked for more information on the changes in teaching practices because of the change in grading. Ms. Kerr thought that students would be given additional opportunities to demonstrate mastery. Mr. Fulton stated that with a standards-based curriculum all students can receive an “A” since there is no curve.

Mr. Sanghvi asked if an opportunity to show mastery would include replacing a test. Mr. Fulton stated the grade is where the student is – not an average.

Mr. Romero stated that a student will get a grade based on his/her mastery of the curriculum. The standard meaning of an “A” is that a student did outstanding work throughout the grading period with all grades averaged. There is a chance that a student could start the course with low grades, but master the material at the end of the course. Mr. Fulton stated it is where the student is at the end of the course, and that is a change in the grading policy as well as in philosophy.

Mr. Lange asked for input from the teachers’ and administrators’ unions. Dr. Newman commented that she and Ms. Cullison had been involved in the leadership teams, and there has been an opportunity for feedback. She thought this was one of the most professional efforts ever undertaken by MCPS, and the implementation plan is excellent with a consistent message and materials. Ms. Cullison agreed with Dr. Newman and said the school system needs to take the next step and begin the process.

Mr. Felton was concerned about whether MCPS could clearly define the deliverables each year in a way that students, parents, and teachers understand. While the system wants to move forward, it does not want to penalize students. Also, a staff development plan is a long way from having teachers trained and ready to implement the policy. Mr. Fulton thought there were two elements – (1) what the year-by-year plan embodies, and (2) what the essential components are that need to be communicated.

Mr. Felton stated that teachers are committed to teaching, but he was concerned about the capacity for data and feedback. Mr. Fulton replied that grading and reporting is not a separate piece from curriculum implementation.

Dr. Haughey remarked that he was comfortable with the elementary school process, but he was concerned that staff development will take place from July to September. He was concerned about implementation in the secondary schools and how the policy would be implemented with no experience. He asked if staff had considered a partial implementation or pilot of the plan. Mr. Fulton replied that it would be hard to pick a grade level in the high school because of mixed content areas, and staff had not considered a phase in by levels. The meaning of a grade has to be consistent systemwide before the report card is changed.

Mrs. O’Neill asked how that would affect the high school transcript. Before the transcript is changed, MCPS needs to ensure that this information needed by colleges and employers and that it is formatted so that it does not negatively affect students. It has become abundantly clear through the policy revision that teachers were grading using their own protocols. This implementation plan must be communicated, and staff must be trained.

Mr. Sanghvi reported that students were confused about the grading of “effort.” He told students that if they could not master the curriculum, the non-academic grade would let colleges and employers know that the student had worked hard. If teachers give added opportunities through numerous assessments, students will need time to adjust to the new philosophy. He was concerned about Advanced Placement courses since these assessments and grading systems are different, and there should be more alignment between the systems. He thought the policy is the right direction for the school system and aligns with the expectations in higher education and the workforce. However, he suggested that the policy should be implemented with the earlier grades.

Mr. Romero stated that in his business there is a schedule with critical paths. He did not know where those critical points were in the implementation plan, and he would encourage the advisory committee to ascertain those points. He hoped that the Board could receive a report twice a year.

Ms. Cox believed that one of the decision points is comfort and competency for staff to implement the plan in September. However, what is not clear is the understanding of the policy in the community.

Re:  MSDE PROPOSAL ON DIPLOMAS (ORAL)

Dr. Frieda Lacey, chief of staff, and Mr. Dale Fulton, associate superintendent for the Office of Curriculum and Instruction Programs, outlined the proposal from the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE).

Dr. Lacey explained the redesign of high school completion program. MSDE has proposed multi-diplomas. Staff wanted to examine the proposal and high school assessment (HSA) data and disaggregate that data as it relates to the proposed diplomas. However, there is not a cohort of students that has taken all four HSAs.
Mr. Fulton reported that the state board in December proposed options for tiered diplomas. Because of concerns regarding increased dropout and failure rates among certain subgroups such as special education students and English-language learners, state Superintendent Nancy Grasmick proposed a plan to provide a tiered system of five alternate diplomas, with different kinds of diplomas issued depending on the number of assessments passed and whether a student has a disability. Some state board members voiced concerns that the tiered system could lead schools to track students toward different diplomas, and that such diplomas would be “viewed as second-class.” MCPS staff supports one Maryland State diploma based on passing the HSAs, a substitute test, or a composite test.

Mr. Felton asked what the rationale was. What got the state to this point? Mr. Fulton replied that when the standards setting was done last summer, the state saw the impact on students not receiving a Maryland State diploma and shifted the diplomas to LEAs. Staff did not know what colleges and business would do with a local diploma, and there would be 24 counties with different criteria for a diploma. In reality, the HSA was to make the Maryland diploma meaningful.

Ms. Cox noted that when this item was placed on the agenda, there was a request for data that might be available to give the Board a better picture of the potential impact of this proposal on students, especially students with Individualized Education Programs. Dr. Alban, Office of Shared Accountability, replied that there were limitations of the data. The state has only given the school system HSA scores for the last two school years. Therefore, the system does not have a full cohort of students who have taken all four tests. The closest data would be to look at the current 11th graders, 13 percent of whom have taken all four tests. The tiered diploma system would affect students in special education and limited English learners.

Mr. Lange asked what passing is for the HSA. He understood it was still undetermined. Mr. Fulton replied that cut scores have been determined.

Mr. Lange noted that staff had mentioned four HSAs, and he thought there would be 10 HSAs ultimately. Mr. Fulton responded that phase one is being implemented, and phase two has been placed on hold.

Mr. Sanghvi affirmed that the four tests are for Biology, Government, English I, and Algebra.

Mr. Romero asked what incentive there would be for a college admissions officer to admit a student with a local diploma. Would the college have to rely on grade point averages? Mr. Fulton stated that staff was concerned about disadvantaged students.

Mr. Romero asked if there were accommodations given for SAT tests. Mr. Fulton said there were. Dr. Thornton thought it would be difficult to know the difference between diplomas.
Mr. Felton asked if the local diploma would have the same stature as the current state diploma and if the future state diploma would have a higher status. Mr. Fulton stated that at present there is one diploma, certificate, and GED.

Ms. Cox thought the state could not control the perception of the diplomas. Since it is not granted by the state, people will assume it is a lesser diploma.

Mr. Felton asked what the next steps were. Mr. Fulton answered that the state was having discussions with superintendents, assistant superintendents, and PTAs. The next step will be to draft regulations and receive public comment. The State Board will vote in late spring.

Ms. Cox asked if the state was looking at approving substitute tests with strict alignment with the Maryland assessments standards. Mr. Fulton responded that any assessment would have to be aligned, but tests such as the SAT II cannot be aligned. However, tests such as the SAT II have a national reputation, and the state would set a cut score.

Mr. Felton asked if this proposal was based on any other state model. Ms. Blum thought all states were struggling with these concepts, and some states have some form of composite scores.

Mr. Felton asked what the community should do during this first phase. Mr. Fulton replied that Dr. Weast has taken a proposal to the other state superintendents, and the Board could communicate with the State Board about its concerns.

Ms. Cox thought that staff was headed in the right direction to maintain a high quality diploma with the two-tiered system.

Ms. Cox said the Board will write a letter to the State Board of Education on tiered diplomas, indicating concerns over the current proposal.

On motion of Dr. Haughey and seconded by Mr. Lange, the following resolution was adopted unanimously by members present:

WHEREAS, The Board of Education is pleased to have fostered the International Baccalaureate Program as part of the program of instruction for more than fifteen years; and

WHEREAS, Students of the Montgomery County Public Schools have benefitted from the development and expansion of the International Baccalaureate Program since it was initiated at Richard Montgomery High School in 1987; and

WHEREAS, The International Baccalaureate approach has been extended into the middle school through implementation of the International Baccalaureate Middle Years Programme at Julius West Middle School; and

WHEREAS, Students now in the tenth grade at Richard Montgomery High School were the pilot group of students to implement this new program and, through their dedication and performance, have provided the evidence of success needed for our school system to be authorized to proceed through the International Baccalaureate certification and moderation process; and

WHEREAS, Under regulations of the International Baccalaureate Organization, the timing of the approval process precludes eligibility of this pioneering first class for full Middle Years Programme recognition despite the students’ completion of the same rigorous five-year cycle that will qualify students in subsequent classes for the Middle Years Programme Certificate; and

WHEREAS, The Board of Education desires to give special recognition to the essential role these students played in participating in this Programme through its successful implementation; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Board of Education commend each of the current Grade 10 Middle Years Programme students at Richard Montgomery High School for the pioneering spirit, academic attainment and perseverance that contributed so substantially to success of the first full Middle Years Programme in any Montgomery County public school; and be it further

Resolved, That, upon the completion of tenth grade, each such student be provided a certificate, in a format deemed appropriate by the superintendent or his designee, to which the signature of the Board president and the superintendent is affixed, attesting to this achievement.

RESOLUTION NO. 42-04

On motion of Dr. Haughey and seconded by Mr. Lange, the following resolution was adopted unanimously by members present:

WHEREAS, The Board of Education recognizes that our County continues to experience substantial changes in the racial, ethnic and cultural composition of our population as a whole and of the population of students in our schools in particular; and

WHEREAS, The Montgomery County public school system has benefitted in recent years from a continuing pattern of enrichment provided by the infusion of substantial numbers of new students drawn from a variety of cultures, whose backgrounds reflect a worldwide variety of nations, languages and traditions; and

WHEREAS, Both our school system and our County government will benefit from a more extensive and precise understanding of the patterns of entry, movement and completion of all the students in our schools; and

WHEREAS, There is, at present, no means to undertake a comprehensive county-wide study of the shifting demographic patterns of the racial, ethnic and cultural groups in our communities and the implications of those patterns for educational and community services; and

WHEREAS, The school system does not currently have the resources needed to conduct a comprehensive study of shifting demographic patterns and their implications for instruction and for community support services; and

WHEREAS, Such a study could appropriately inform the Board and the County about significant population shifts along with demographic and ethnographic change, while drawing on knowledge derived from such disciplines as demography, sociology, ethnography and cultural anthropology; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Board of Education authorize its Subcommittee on Research and Evaluation to seek cooperative participation of the County Executive, the County Council, and the Planning Board in a county-wide study to examine patterns of demographic changes in Montgomery County over the last two decades and to develop projections of appropriate ranges of demographic patterns to be anticipated in the next decade.

RESOLUTION NO. 43-04 Re: STUDENT ADVISORY COMMITTEE

On motion of Mr. Sanghvi and seconded by Dr. Haughey, the following resolution was recently of hearing from student government leaders of issues of concern to students; and

WHEREAS, The Board desires to hear, on a regular basis, the voice of those most directly impacted by its actions so that their input can be taken into account as policy decisions are made; and

WHEREAS, The Student Advisory Committee has been established as a committee of students, under the auspices of the Student Affairs Office, to discuss and analyze Board actions and policy issues; now therefore be it Resolved, That the Board of Education hereby recognize the Student Advisory Committee as an advisory body to serve as a means to channel student input on policy issues to the Board of Education; and be it further

Resolved, That the Student Member of the Board shall serve as the liaison between the Student Advisory Committee and the Board of Education.
