Re: Student Performance

Board members viewed a musical performance by the students of Earle B. Wood Junior High School.

Re: Board Member Comments

1. Mrs. Shannon reported that the Board had received a breakout on loss of credit by race and sex. She would like to discuss with staff what it was she was looking for in such a report.

2. Mrs. Peyser noted that 6,184 students in Fairfax County were enrolled in Advanced Placement courses, and Fairfax weighted the grades in these courses. In Montgomery County only 1,739 students were enrolled, and these grades were not weighted. She said that three times as many students in Fairfax took these courses and they weighted grades, but Montgomery County did not. She felt they should not lag behind Fairfax County and urged the Board to move to reconsider the policy on weighting of advanced placement grades.

3. Dr. Greenblatt reported that she and Dr. Shoenberg had attended the Federal Relations Network meeting in Washington during the past week. They found it of interest, and they would share some materials with the Board. She and Mrs. Praisner had also attended a National Federation of Urban/Suburban School Districts on legislation.

4. Dr. Greenblatt called attention to an article in Education U.S.A. regarding a financial equalization suit in New York. Mr. Ewing asked that the attorneys in the Somerset case be made aware of this similar lawsuit.

5. Mr. Ewing called attention to the recommendations of the Commission on Quality Teaching. He suggested that this item be placed on the March business meeting for further discussion. The superintendent indicated that he had received some material from MSTA on this subject. Mr. Ewing felt it would be useful to ask for comments from teacher organizations on this subject.

6. Mr. Ewing said he had written a memorandum on the Churchill cluster and the Bradley/Radnor situation. He explained that it may have been that the Board did not ask the right questions of the superintendent, and it might be that some additional data would be useful in the sense of other possibilities that were analyzed and rejected. He said that in talking to some other Board members they had indicated that some additional analyses might be useful. The superintendent replied that he and staff had gone through 35 permutations. He said that the Board had asked for what it had received; however, if they wanted additional information they could provide some of this.
