Re: STATEMENT BY MR. EWING

Mr. Ewing made the following statement:

"I am pleased to serve as Board of Education president. I have experience, but it is ancient, and so in a sense I will be learning all over again. I hope that through my performance the Board will feel that I have warranted their confidence on this occasion."
"This will be a Board I am sure, though I think it is presumptuous of me to try to predict, that will be a vigorous advocate for meeting the educational needs of all children. I am sure it will be a Board that will be fiscally responsible in that it will examine every management procedure and operating cost intensively to find efficiencies and to make savings. I am confident that this Board will take action to improve minority education and minority achievement. I am sure that the Board will review policies and procedures in areas where change is called for and will initiate needed changes.

"I am sure that this is going to be a Board that will insist on high standards for student performance and at the same time will ensure that there is support in the form of assistance to those students so that they can achieve the most that they can possibly achieve. This will be, I am sure, a Board that will be open to all, accessible to all, and fair to all. This is a Board that intends to be and will be a good employer. This is a Board that will seek out new modes of cooperation in a very active way with the county executive, the County Council, the legislative Delegation, with municipalities in the county, and with elected officials who can be of help and support and who need to understand the objectives that this Board will pursue.

"This is a Board that will reach out to the community, parents especially, but also to others, to civic associations, to advocacy groups, and to business and industry to seek their support, their understanding, their help in getting the job done. This is a Board in short I think that is committed to the notion that it will examine every option and pursue every avenue to ensure that Montgomery County public school employees and that the public are convinced that we are providing the very best possible education program that we can.

"I am delighted to be working with this group of Board members. I am sure we are eager to be of assistance to the superintendent and his staff and to reflect the kinds of concerns that the public has let us know about, not only those who have recently been candidates, but those who serve on the Board and who hear from the public as well -- not as intensively as those of you who have just gone through a campaign, but we hear on the telephone and in other ways also about issues. I am looking forward to a very active year, and I think you can count on it that this is going to be a very determined and vigorous Board of Education. Thank you. Let's get on with it and make Montgomery County education as good as it can be."
Mrs. Hobbs made the following statement:

"First, I would like to congratulate Mr. Ewing and say that I am looking forward to working with you and learning from you. Second, I would like to acknowledge the confidence that the majority of the Board has given me by electing me vice president even though I actively asked each one not to. I hope I can live up to your expectations.

"I want you to know I have my paradigm, and I have one question, 'Who is going to volunteer to explain this to Mr. Hobbs?'"

Re: A MOTION BY MS. GUTIERREZ ON MC 101-91 - MONTGOMERY COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION - STUDENT MEMBER - VOTING PRIVILEGES

Ms. Gutierrez moved and Mr. Chang seconded that the Board of Education support MC 101-91.

For the record, Mrs. DiFonzo made the following statement:

"Once again, I am going to continue to oppose this as I have for as many years as I have been on the Board and certainly as a position for several years before that. The maturity, the wisdom, the intelligence, the integrity, all of those other good words relating to student Board members or any other member of the Board is not the issue here in my judgment. The student Board member is elected by a very small constituency, a very single issue constituency in terms of students voting for students. It is a special group. The student Board member's position does not come with the accountability built into it that is certainly the case with the adult members of the Board. The student Board member never has to live with the results of his or her decisions. I should have asked this question a long, long time ago and never did. I don't know what as a student who is not yet 18 -- what legal culpability or non-culpability the student Board member holds. We can be sued. Can the students be held even legally accountable for his or her actions if he or she is not yet 18, and I am not sure I know the answer to that. That is something that has occurred to me that I am concerned about, but for those reasons and others I cannot and will not support this."

Mr. Chang made the following statement for the record:

"Concerning hiring and firing your own principal at a high school, but just as a student would have a conflict of interest in that situation, a parent of students in the school system would have equal opportunity for conflict of interest. It would be totally up to the Board member, whether student or adult, to recuse from that decision, thereby excluding themselves from that conflict of interest. Therefore, it would be the full responsibility of the Board member whether student or adult to stay away from that conflict of interest, and I think that the same pressures can exist on parents who have kids in the school system. The issue of bringing the Board from eight to nine members -- first of all, I would go along with that if that would impact the Delegation. I know in the past the Delegation and the Board have both voted down that issue several times. I think the reason they voted it down was the cost factor primarily. It would cost thousands of dollars to create that new position on the Board. I would like to point out that there were only four issues in which last year's student Board member, Alison Serino, could not vote on that would have caused a tie if her vote counted. Her vote was recorded but not counted. If her vote was counted on those issues, i.e., collective bargaining, budgets, school boundaries, and negative personnel actions, there were only four out of approximately 700 resolutions that are adopted each year. I would just like to bring up that point about the very few ties with our eight-member Board."

Ms. Gutierrez made the following statement for the record:

"I strongly support the student vote. I am in total agreement with Dr. Cheung. I believe that we have a student representative on the Board, and we have had one for over 12 years. There is a long track record of full evidence that they have always acted in adult responsibility which may not be possible to say about all Board members that have been in service. I believe that some of the issues that have been raised really do go to the fact whether we have a student member or not and not to point in question which the bill raises. This specifically calls for permitting him or her to have full voting rights, and I fully support that."

Re: AN AMENDMENT TO THE PROPOSED RESOLUTION ON MC 101-91 (FAILED)

A motion by Mrs. Fanconi to amend the proposed resolution on MC 101-91 by expanding the Board of Education to nine members if the bill were passed failed with Mr. Chang, Mr. Ewing, Mrs. Fanconi, and Mrs. Hobbs voting in the affirmative; Mrs. Brenneman, Dr. Cheung, Mrs. DiFonzo, and Ms. Gutierrez voting in the negative.

RESOLUTION NO. 762-90 Re: MC 101-91 – MONTGOMERY COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION – STUDENT MEMBER – VOTING PRIVILEGES

On motion of Ms. Gutierrez seconded by Mr. Chang, the following resolution was adopted with Mr. Chang, Dr. Cheung, Mr. Ewing, Mrs. Hobbs, and Ms. Gutierrez voting in the affirmative; Mrs. Brenneman, Mrs. DiFonzo, and Mrs. Fanconi voting in the negative:

RESOLVED, That the Board of Education support MC 101-91 – Montgomery County Board of Education – Student Member – Voting Privileges.
Mrs. Fanconi moved and Mr. Chang seconded a motion that the Board of Education support MC 106-91.

For the record, Ms. Gutierrez made the following statement:

"I would want to state my strong support for the right to strike by the MCCSSE employees. I believe that this is something that historically in our labor history has been a tradition, a right, that has been part of our overall concept of being able to resolve and give appropriate balance to resolution of conflict between unions and management. I believe also that it is an encouragement for us to look at a different way of dealing with employees. We can certainly not resolve conflicts in the most difficult of resolutions that we can work towards avoiding this type of an effect, and I strongly support us in changing an adversarial climate towards a much more positive climate of working. I believe as the superintendent states that good labor management relations is what we should be all about, and it was also part of the opening comments made by our newly elected president. I strongly support this right to strike."

RESOLUTION NO. 763-90  Re: MC 106-91 - MONTGOMERY COUNTY - NONCERTIFICATED PUBLIC SCHOOL EMPLOYEES - STRIKES

On motion of Mrs. Fanconi seconded by Mr. Chang, the following resolution was adopted with Mrs. Brenneman, Mr. Chang, Dr. Cheung, Mr. Ewing, Mrs. Fanconi, Ms. Gutierrez, and Mrs. Hobbs voting in the affirmative; Mrs. DiFonzo voting in the negative:

RESOLVED, That the Board of Education support MC 106-91 - Montgomery County - Noncertificated Public School Employees - Strikes.

Re: INTERAGENCY COORDINATING BOARD STUDY

Dr. Pitt explained that this was a study. He indicated that some of the newspapers had stated that MCPS was going to move church groups out of schools. He did not agree with that. He thought that church groups had a right to use available space appropriately, and it would not be his intent as superintendent to recommend anything like that. He remarked that whatever the results of the study, it was incumbent upon the public schools to allow citizens, when available, to use school space as much as possible. The general principle was that when space was available and it was appropriate, the community ought to have an opportunity to use that space.

Mr. Ewing introduced Dr. Joy Frechtling, the director of the Department of Educational Accountability. Dr. Gail Ayers, director of the ICB, was in the audience along with members of her staff and members of the Interagency Coordinating Board. Dr. Frechtling introduced Ms. Laure Sharp, who was the principal investigator on the study. She also introduced Barbara Wells and Carol Barrons who worked on the study.

Dr. Cheung stated that he was a member of the ICB, and he had submitted his resignation to the Board. However, until a replacement was appointed, he still served. This was a potential conflict of interest, and he would reserve his comments.

Dr. Frechtling explained that the study was requested of DEA as a way of taking a look at the ICB and its relationship with MCPS after a decade of interaction. They wanted to look at how to make this continue to work well and perhaps work better. This was a very difficult study to do because there were so many different aspects of it that one could look at. They had had the help of a stakeholder panel with representatives from the principals' associations, users, PTA, and a former ICB board member. They had invited the ICB to participate on the stakeholder panel, but they had not wanted to participate. She thanked Dr. Gail Ayers, who had been extremely helpful and supportive in providing information, records, and advice. Dr. Frechtling said they had tried to point out areas where concerns had been raised and where some problems seemed to exist which might impede the successful functioning of the ICB. They also made some suggestions for improving the relationship or finding ways to make it work better.

Mrs. Sharp reported that she wanted to talk about four sets of findings. The first set dealt with the user community. They tried to find out who in 1988-89 was using the schools. This was one of the things that created some confusion because the JOURNAL had reported they proposed to dump the schools that denied access. She stressed that there was nothing along those lines in the report. They had gone into 12 schools and found there was quite a difference between community use during the week and community use on the weekend. During the week most of the activities that look place under ICB auspices were activities offered by the county, by the county school system for its own students, including activities by the school. In the high school, the auditorium would be used for drama rehearsals, and this was an ICB activity because under the law the ICB was in charge of the school outside of the regular school day. There was also a number of activities offered through the ICB for MCPS students. These were the things that used to be done by the PTA.
When they added all these things up, they found that during the week about 80 percent of all the people using the schools during ICB hours had a connection with MCPS students or adults. They thought that was a little different from what they expected to find under an agency which presumably served the community of all ages in a great variety of activities. During the week, most of the participants were students.

Mrs. Sharp reported that on the weekends the use was very different. They found that the majority of the participants were not MCPS students but were churchgoers. They presented these data, but they did not draw any implications as to what changes should be made. They pointed out that in some other jurisdictions things were done differently. In discussing the users, they wanted to point out what Montgomery County did at this point in time. On the users, they recommended that the policy makers both on the Board and the County Council take these data into account in whatever decisions they chose to make.

The second set of findings and recommendations dealt with current regulations and procedures under which the ICB and the school Board operated. Mrs. Sharp said there were some regulations that were not precise, detailed, or helpful to school personnel when they tried to make very specific decisions about what they could or could not do in connection with community use. She quoted that law which stated that community activities should not impinge on the effective implementation of educational programs and activities. No one knew when an activity impinged and when it did not. In their investigations in the schools, questions were raised about when school personnel had the right to say the community could not use a given classroom. Could they forbid access if the classroom was set up for a special purpose? Most people did not think they could do that because it was the ICB's right to claim any space in the school after hours. Some people just did not give the room out. They came across one school where the gym was being used for dog training, and while the school staff was upset they thought there was nothing that could be done. DEA thought that more specific rules were needed. There were very specific examples in the report where new rules and regulations were needed. These should be uniformly enforced in the county. She did not hear anyone say they did not want community activities, but they did hear a lot of people say that they needed better rules.

Mrs. Sharp stated that the third set had to do with policies dealing with matters of security, monitoring of users, and building maintenance. There was an enormous amount of discussion from school personnel about lack of security, damages, the need to call the police, and inability to control the behavior of some users. One of the problems had to do with who was present in the schools during community use. The answer was a building service worker who was not trained or did not have the time to deal with these issues. Other jurisdictions made sure that during heavy community use, people other than building service workers were present. MCPS had no regulations along those lines. They did have provisions when many of their own students were in the schools at night. At that point, they did have an assistant principal or other personnel on the premises. In addition, they were trying not to use the regular building service staff but a special part-time crew. Having a new part-time person in the schools when there was heavy use led to problems. The way schools were built it was very difficult to limit users to given areas. Once people were in a building they could go anywhere. This was coupled with the fact that many user groups did not have a sufficient number of supervisors. In some cases there were large numbers of children with only one adult in charge. MCPS had had a great deal of damage and disorder which upset school staff. They also had problems with supplies, but this was an internal matter which MCPS management needed to deal with.

Ms. Sharp said that the final item dealt with the fact that MCPS subsidized the community use rather heavily. When the ICB was set up, MCPS agreed to provide certain services as its contribution to the ICB. Most of the work done in scheduling users, showing the building, and keeping a calendar was done by school personnel. There was a considerable burden on the business managers, the secretaries, and the principals. MCPS had never tried to get this money back. While they were being reimbursed for direct out-of-pocket expenses, they had never been able to establish very reliable data to show how much it cost to heat the buildings, run the air-conditioning, or provide maintenance and replacement services. They did know that last year they had to spend more than half a million dollars for extra cleaning services.

Mr. Ewing hoped that the Board would address itself to the issue raised in the newspapers. That was the question of whether there was any intention on the part of the Board to recommend that the schools not be used for religious services by churches and other organizations. This was not the recommendation in the report, but that was the way it had been commented on by many. He hoped they would be able to communicate what the Board felt about the issue and put the matter to rest.

Mrs. Hobbs understood that every community school had an advisory committee. She and Mrs. Brenneman had served on such a committee. She asked if they were able to question the advisory committees of the 12 schools and whether there was any reason to think that perhaps the advisory committees could play some role in solving problems. Mrs. Sharp replied that they had 17 community schools, but they had 160 schools in Montgomery County and all of them participated in the community use program. In fact, some of the schools with the heaviest use were not community schools. She felt that the community schools played a relatively small part in the picture. In checking with the community schools, they found that the advisory committees were not very active. They were also handicapped in that ICB was reluctant to have them talk to their staff in the community schools. The issue was that the big users and the schools with the greatest problems were not community schools. The community schools had an advantage because they had a coordinator paid by the ICB, and that person was often in the schools during activities. Therefore, the problem with users was less serious in the community schools than it was in others.

Dr. Cheung said that from a facilities standpoint in addition to use for education the school could also be used by the community because the school was supported not by those having students in the schools but by all citizens. He asked whether they had looked at the cost and efficiency of having the schools handle afterschool use of facilities versus what ICB had been doing for the last 12 years. Before there was an ICB, citizens were concerned about the programs provided by the schools and whether or not the community was encouraged to use the facility.
Citizens were also concerned about the cost related to the use of school facilities.

Dr. Cheung stated that he did not see the report as an analysis.
While they talked about activities, they needed to look at hours and numbers of users. This was not done. He also pointed out that PTA was not part of MCPS K through 12 activities, and this had been put in the report's definition. He was very concerned that they had a descriptive study rather than an analysis. He had been serving on the ICB for five years, and he was very proud of the activities being provided to the community and the supports to the instructional program. He said that this was a matter of communication because the citizen advisory committees were also staffed by MCPS personnel as well as by citizens.

Mrs. Fanconi remarked that it had not been stated clearly that they were using schools as community centers. Personally she felt this was a good use of the facilities and was cost effective in terms of not building separate structures for community centers. She pointed out that 70 percent of mothers were now in the work force, and as a county they needed to look at what they were doing to support families to function better as family units. Many services ought to be provided where the children were, and there ought to be a multitude of activities going on in the school afterwards that children could take advantage of rather than be latchkey children. However, she felt that their primary purpose was to look at how the school functioned as educational organizations and whether or not the community use of schools was interfering with that functioning. They had to look at misuse of classrooms, vandalism, misuse of equipment, and the time the building service workers and administrators had to spend in administering this. The key issue to her was the cost to MCPS which the report said was substantial and far exceeded the reimbursement provided by the program.

Mrs. Fanconi requested a follow-up on the recommendations for changes, looking specifically at the cost effectiveness. She thought they could do that by looking at the consolidation of activities. There were activities occurring in lots of buildings in a similar area, and she wondered whether they should have a policy about grouping activities in nearby schools so that one school had to be heated and staffed. She suggested that they could have a some sort of trigger that would move up a school on a maintenance schedule after so many hours of use. They could take this to the County Council, and if they didn't support that kind of maintenance trigger then the Board could say that schools could only be used this many hours because they could not justify the cost. She asked that this type of staff work be done.

Mrs. Fanconi said that according to the report they were the only jurisdiction in the United States that had this form of administration. If this format was so efficient and effective, she wondered why other school systems were not copying Montgomery County. She suggested they look carefully at how other systems were doing it and whether or not MCPS was receiving the reimbursement it should. For example, when DeMatha held its basketball tournament at Blair and thousands attended, was there precedent for MCPS to receive a percentage of the gate. She asked whether there was heavy use by other jurisdictions because Montgomery County was cheaper than other school systems. She had heard that an airplane club in Fairfax used Montgomery County fields because it was cheaper than renting fields in Fairfax.
She thought they had to look at covering their costs and having some recommendation from staff in terms of policies they needed to look at in response to this.

Dr. Pitt pointed out that this was a law that had been passed, which put them in a different position than many places.
Custodial service was an area of concern. He believed it was important that MCPS building service people be involved in the afterschool use of schools rather than other people. The argument had been made that because the schools were administered by someone else that they could hire their own people. MCPS had argued against this. They had had great debates at the Council about this, and after a long time they worked out a formula where MCPS employees would be paid a certain amount of money to work afterschool. When the Fair Labor Standards Law came into effect, it was determined that they had to pay these employees overtime.
The Council had told MCPS to find a way to do this and to pay for it, and approximately $225,000 was taken out of the MCPS custodial account to pay for ICB use. He had tried to find part-time employees to do the ICB work, but they were not always successful and did have to pay regular staff overtime. This was part of the problem faced by MCPS. Dr. Pitt thought it was important to have staff in the schools who were knowledgeable about the school and felt a responsibility, and he thought that the ICB believed that as well.

Mrs. Brenneman asked why the ICB was created when other jurisdictions did not have this. Dr. Pitt replied that many people in the county felt that the school system was not open enough to use and that the school system was arbitrary on allowing use of schools. People on the Board of Education agreed, citizens felt that way, and Council members felt that way. They got together and decided to form the ICB. Mr. William Colman, a Board member, was one of the leadership people at that time. They wanted to find a way to make it possible for citizens to use the schools.

Mrs. Sharp indicated that she had read the history of the ICB while preparing her report. They had had a task force which made recommendations. One was to get away from having the school system primarily for students. There was a lot of emphasis on senior citizen service that would be provided in the schools. For some reason this did not happen, and she thought it was that school buildings were not terribly good for senior citizens. For the most part, senior citizens wanted daytime activities and the desks were too small. The thinking at the time was very ambitious about coordinating services in the community for everyone and making the schools the community centers. She pointed out that when the task force was formed there were already 15 community schools in Montgomery County.

Dr. Pitt recalled that at that time the federal government was funding a variety of programs including community schools. Montgomery County got into that very early as a school system with the idea of using federal funds to operate a number of community schools with directors. However, the funds diminished and disappeared over a period of time. Most community funds came from local sources now.

Mr. Ewing said that Dr. Frechtling had said the study was done at the request of the Board. While not all the questions were the Board's questions, it began with that. The Board's questions were raised because they had dealt with a very large number of issues over the years in how effectively and how efficiently this program worked. Most of the problems they had been able to work out very successfully with Gail Ayers and her staff. He and other Board members had appreciated her enthusiastic support for community use of schools. The issue was not whether or not schools should be used for community use. He thought that Dr.
Cheung's point about a comprehensive analysis was accurate because they had a very small sample. Therefore, they couldn't say they had a complete study. Rather they had an indicator. However, there were a series of issues that had been raised that were not new to the Board, and there were no surprises in terms of what the issues were.

Mr. Ewing thought they should spell out what they thought those issues were and then begin to figure out what they wanted to do with them and how they wanted to address them in terms of recommendations and internal rules. There might be nothing that they wanted to do, for example, about the cost issue. However, a key to controlling cost was to make cost visible. This suggested that MCPS needed to be clearer about what costs they were bearing. MCPS might want to make a contribution through use of its staff and in other ways, but it was important for them to know what the costs were. It was important for them to know what some of the policy issues were that the Board, ICB, and Council needed to address. He thought that the study was useful in that regard.

Mr. Ewing hoped that as the superintendent addressed these issues in the form of recommendations he would make it clear that they had no intention of recommending any action that would preclude religious or cultural groups from using the schools. He would like to make it clear that the Board had no intention of pursuing that objective. Dr. Pitt replied that he would not do that.

Dr. Cheung reported that on the ICB board there were four representatives. The superintendent and two citizen representatives had votes, and the president of the Board served as an ex officio member. Therefore, he thought there was sufficient liaison between the ICB board and the MCPS. Dr. Frechtling thought that while there might be excellent communication on one level, when they got down to the implementation level the directives were not as clearly understood. This was the level that they were talking about, and the level they thought needed more attention. Mrs. Sharp added that one of their recommendations was to centralize the responsibility within the school system somewhat more than was currently the case.

Mr. Ewing hoped that the Board would receive a set of proposed recommendations at a subsequent meeting. As a member of the ICB board, Dr. Pitt felt it would be appropriate for the ICB to give their input before the Board of Education took any action. He thought it would be more helpful to have the ICB's input before he reacted to the study.

Mrs. Fanconi was concerned about delaying action. She pointed out that they had an operating budget coming up, and they needed to look at cost effectiveness. If they were going to allow two months for ICB to respond, a month for staff to respond, and a month for the Board to respond, this would not be an appropriate timeframe. Unless ICB could respond in a couple of weeks, she would like to have the staff begin to prepare a response. She was concerned about not having this in front of the Board when they began to look at the operating budget.

Mr. Ewing hoped they could have an understanding with Dr. Ayers that she could get back to the Board in a timeframe that was consistent with the Board's budget process. The Board had to act on the budget by the middle of February at the latest; therefore, the Board needed to review this on January 22 at the latest. Mrs. Linda Burgin, chair of the ICB, indicated that they would respond in time. Dr. Ayers felt that there would be no problem in getting the information back to the Board, and she volunteered to discuss the report with the Board and make available some former ICB members who had been on the original task force.

Dr. Pitt was not sure there were budget implications in terms of efficiency. Mrs. Fanconi replied that the program appeared to cost $355,000, and MCPS was not recovering these costs. The Board might have to make choices about the delivery of its educational program versus this service. She thought this would have a great deal to do with her decisions on budget priorities. Dr. Pitt said he would like to discuss this further with Mrs. Fanconi. The $355,000 figure was a result of their inability to hire the lower cost people. It might be that they would have to come up with another plan or the County Council would have to provide more funds to the ICB.

Mr. Ewing said there was agreement to get this item before the Board for further discussion and appropriate action not later than January 22.

Mrs. DiFonzo knew that the ICB had told unfriendly users that they had become persona non grata in the schools and were not permitted to use the facilities. She asked if Dr. Ayers could provide the Board with some idea as to the number of groups or organizations in this category. Dr. Ayers replied that they had figures going back a year.

Ms. Gutierrez congratulated staff and thanked staff for a very timely report. She liked the approach and the tone of the report, and it was an excellent example of how people could work together to improve the system and resolve problems.

RESOLVED, That the Board shall make provision, if that is the community desire, for the attendance of Forest Knolls students at a Blair middle school and at Blair, with the stipulation that both schools shall be made fully accessible for handicapped students; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Board reaffirms past Board positions and current policy that racial and ethnic balance, community stability, and the highest quality of education are critical to the well-being of the Blair cluster, and of the community that surrounds it.

Mrs. Hobbs asked that separate votes be taken on the bullets.

Re: CENTRAL PRODUCTION FACILITY

Board members received additional information on plans for the central production facility. Mrs. Joanne Styer, director of food services, assured the Board that the facility would pay for itself within two years and that the 86 FTE positions eliminated because of the facility would be done through attrition. The facility would be opening in September, 1983, and she expected that there would be enough resignations and retirees in that period to cover the 86 FTE positions. Any vacancies during this period would be filled by temporary employees or by staff overtime.

Ms. Gutierrez requested that the Board be provided with additional information on commercial installations of central production facilities. Mr. Ewing assumed that Mrs. Styer would continue to keep the Board informed about plans for the facility.

Mr. Ewing made the following statement for the record:

"Mrs. Styer declared that the entire personnel savings will be done without firing anybody. That ought to go in the record of this meeting as a commitment on the part of staff to the Board."
