Resolved, That the Board of Education endorse the following statement in Dr. Vance's memorandum of October 21, 1991:

"In the context of broad fiscal uncertainties, I recommend that we return to the county as much of the available funds as is educationally and financially responsible, and that the Board determine that amount in the context of its deliberations on the FY93 capital budget in November. I am developing recommendations for the budget based on this approach with a goal to recommend disappropriation of about $2 million from identified available funds in the capital budget."

and be it further

Resolved, That this decision on available capital funds be communicated to affected schools and communities.
Re: PRESENTATION ON FACILITIES ISSUES

Ms. Ann Briggs, director of the Department of Educational Facilities Planning and Capital Programming, introduced Mr. Bruce Crispell, demographic planner, and Ms. Deanna Newman, facilities planner. Ms. Briggs said on November 1 they hoped to have copies of the recommended capital budget. On November 4, they would have a worksession with an opportunity for Board members to ask for alternatives. There would be public hearings on November 18 and 19, and decisions would be made on November 25.

Mr. Crispell explained that despite the recession MCPS was still growing by 4,000 to 5,000 students per year. School population was going up because of the tremendous growth in the 1980's and the very high birth rate during that period. The birth rate resulted from the baby boomers delaying having their children and the large numbers of parents in their 20's who were having children. He also reported that Montgomery County had a high number of immigrants as well. For example, the Hispanic and Asian population in the county had grown by 143 percent in the last ten years.

Mr. Crispell reported that in 1968 MCPS was a white school system, and as enrollment declined from the early 1970's into the 1980's, the minority population grew. In the past two years they had begun to see an increase in the white population. Today, the school system was 61 percent white, 18 percent black, 12 percent Asian, and 9 percent Hispanic. He indicated that some demographers were predicting that Hispanics would be the largest minority group in the United States and in the next half century whites would be the minority.

This fall the enrollment forecasts were 419 below forecast in kindergarten, and grades 9-12 came in 172 over predictions. They were now seeing less attrition in the eleventh and twelfth grades. Dr. Rohr indicated that their forecasts were off by three-tenths of one percent. Mr. Crispell explained that in November they would have the official enrollment. He also stated that by 1997 they expected to have over 10,000 students in kindergarten, but they believed that the plateau in elementary enrollment would be reached in 2005. As this population moved through the grades they would see more requests for mid level and high school space. Last year they had bottomed out on high school enrollment and would see increases in these grades.

Dr. Cheung requested a graph showing the life cycle of schools -- when they were built and what the plans were to replace these facilities. Mrs. DiFonzo requested hard copies of all the charts and graphs Mr. Crispell had used in his presentation.
Ms. Newman stated that the cluster comments this year revolved around the issues of addition, middle school organization and space, modernizations, and maintenance/PLAR projects for aging schools. She reported that between 1985 and 1991 they had opened up 20 elementary schools and put additions on schools to accommodate 14,000 more students. From 1991 to 1997 they had only three elementary schools in their plans. Space for additional elementary students was being provided through mid level reorganization. In the 1985-91 period, the mid level population had increased by 3,500 students, and they had built one new school and reopened two schools to handle this population. However, between 1991-97 they were showing an increase of 7,000 mid level students and had seven new or reopened schools in the budget. The grades 9-12 population would grow by about 8,000 students between 1991 to 1997. While they had some space in the high schools now, they could only absorb about half of that growth. Therefore, they would need a high school in the Seneca Valley/Quince Orchard area and possibly another one in the Route 29 corridor. It was also possible that the Clarksburg area would be developing along with an area near Shady Grove.

Ms. Newman reported that from reading the cluster comments, it was of importance to schools to look for ways to improve their physical environment and get some equity in terms of facilities. Keeping the modernization schedule on target was important. She indicated that one of the most requested items was fans because schools saw this as a way of improving their environment.

Board members viewed a short video tape on the installation and use of portable classrooms.

Mrs. Hobbs asked whether they would have recommendations for the Wheaton cluster because no comments had been received from that group. Ms. Briggs replied the area associates had reviewed all the clusters. Mrs. Hobbs also asked about facilities issues for special schools, and Ms. Briggs assured there they would be talking about these schools and related issues.

Mr. Ewing thanked staff for an interesting and informative presentation.

Re: LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

Mrs. Lois Stoner, legislative aide, stated that the joint study group on education had met this afternoon and made no decisions on local aid. There was a presentation on the decrease in education aid statewide, which had not included any of the decrease they would have as a result of the local government decreases. The joint revenue committee had concluded. There was a clarification given before the appropriation's committee of the attorney general's opinion on S.B. 34 which stated that it did not give local governments additional authority to impair collective bargaining agreements. However, there were some delegates who disagreed with this opinion.

Mr. Ewing asked whether the delegates were discussing tax increases, and Mrs. Stoner thought that the tax increase would be considered in January.

Mr. Ewing announced that this item would be rescheduled as soon as possible.

Re: BOARD MEMBER COMMENTS

1. Mrs. Hobbs remarked that some Board members were wearing red ribbons because October 19-27 was "Red Ribbon Week," which was a commitment to a drug-free community. Gaithersburg ES and Rosemary Hills ES were two of the schools participating in this effort.

2. Mrs. Hobbs reported that a week ago some Board members had attended the NFUSSD meeting in Greenville, SC. She had a packet of information from that conference which she would put in the Board Office for Board members to examine.

3. Ms. Gutierrez said there was a financial aid workshop sponsored by MCPS together with the Hispanic Alliance. Yesterday two sessions were held, and both were standing room only. Translators had been provided because of the enormous interest of parents. There would be more sessions next Sunday at Blair HS, and they had invited Hispanic parents in the downcounty area. She thought this was a very necessary service and hoped they could continue doing this. Herm Davis had offered to do free consulting and was already booked for several days.
4. Mr. Ewing reported that he had sent the Board a memo on East Silver Spring Elementary School which was a math/science magnet for every child in the school. The principal, Mr. Rotter, had provided Mr. Ewing with a copy of a report which showed growth in math, science, and reading scores. The increases in the school over the past two years had been phenomenal. Mr. Ewing felt that this was the kind of program they needed to emphasize and focus on. This was remarkably successful and had every promise of helping every child to be successful. He thought that Mr. Rotter deserved a lot of credit for directing, encouraging, and supporting that effort.
