Re: PRESENTATION ON ENROLLMENT AND FACILITIES

Dr. Vance introduced Ms. Deanna Newman, acting director of the Department of Education Facilities Planning and Capital Programming, and Mr. Bruce Crispell, demographic planner.

Mr. Crispell reported that the enrollment projection for this year was 121,000 students and the tenth-day enrollment was 833 students over projection. The track record over the past few years indicates the number of students will drop between early September and the end of September. Overall, Mr. Crispell expects 500 students over the estimate.

Mr. Crispell pointed out that there were interesting statistics in a couple of clusters. In the Bethesda-Chevy Chase cluster, Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School is 18 students over projection. There has been concern in that cluster about growth in that school. Montgomery Blair High School is 38 students over forecast. Blair's peak enrollment is projected to be 2,950 students in the year 2005 and does not include the potential Takoma Park students. In the northeastern part of the county, Paint Branch is 60 students below forecast; Springbrook is 50 students below forecast; and Sherwood is 82 over forecast.

Mr. Crispell stated that MCPS is still in the gradual enrollment growth that began in 1983 and has resulted in an additional 35,000 students. Projection is that MCPS will have 135,000 students by 2000. A significant factor is the growth in the high school population. In the next five years, high school enrollment will increase by 20 percent.

Mr. Crispell went on to state that the key components in demographics are birth, aging forward, and in-migration. Births have been coming very close to forecast with a peak in 1990 of 12,772. The aging forward of the school population and the difference between entering students and exiting students results in 2,500 additional students per year. The increase in in-migration is those that move into the county over and above those aging forward; however, the in-migration numbers have come down.

Mr. Crispell explained that another important factor is the race/ethnic composition of enrollment. MCPS continues increased enrollment in the Hispanic group which now matches Asian enrollment. As MCPS is more and more diverse, the English Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) enrollment is somewhat less than forecast in the high school groups. Even though the ESOL enrollment has slowed in high schools, the elementary population is growing and reflects children borne in the United States with English as a primary language. There is an issue of multiracial persons and how to classify them without denying their heritage. Recent legislation in some jurisdictions has created a multiracial category.

* Mr. Abrams left the meeting at this point.

Finally, Mr. Crispell reported on the economy and the prospects for the future. The federal government is going through downsizing, and that is expected to be the driving force for the health of the local economy. It is estimated that in Montgomery County one in seven residents are employed by the federal government. There is also a concern about the level of federal spending in the area. The federal government is reforming welfare, Medicare and Medicaid, affirmative action, immigration, and the changes in the race/ethnic classification that is redefining public institutions. With the federal government shifting responsibility to the states, there will be more competition for resources.

Ms. Gutierrez commended Mr. Crispell on his encompassing coverage. It is important that for the Board to keep all these issues in mind as well as being well informed on what is happening including Congressional decisions that have an impact on local governments. It is extremely valuable for Mr. Crispell to focus on demographics for the Board. She recommended that he should make a similar presentation to the County Council and County Executive. The Board needs to begin to think about the multiracial category and it is important for the school system to understand how information can be used more effectively.
Mr. Felton expressed his thanks for the presentation because it helps the Board as well as the community. His concern was that other agencies are also making projections and to what extent are agencies working together in sharing issues and needs. Mr. Crispell responded that there are opportunities to integrate services within the county. The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission (M-NCPPC) recently called together county agencies to begin work as a team to discuss trends and build those observations into a database.

Mr. Felton inquired about the multiracial category and his understanding that Mr. Crispell had made a presentation that identified 21 or 24 different combinations of racial/ethnic groups. Mr. Crispell answered that was correct and society is moving toward such a category. It is open ended at this time and the federal government has not made a decision even though some states have created a multiracial category.

Mrs. King commended Mr. Crispell on his presentation and asked about enrollment projections for the Sherwood cluster with 1,000 new housing units within five years. Mr. Crispell explained that there is a lot of development getting underway and, based on that information, the Board has redistributed attendance areas.

Dr. Cheung congratulated Mr. Crispell and asked if the ethnic student population mirrors the broader population in the community. Mr. Crispell replied that MCPS is much more diverse than the total adult population in the county.

Mr. Ewing stated that when dealing with enrollment and planning issues, a significant factor is research and how that data supports educational funding. Survey results indicate a high level of support for education but at the same time there is a decrease in funding. He requested survey results that indicates public support for education at the state or local level.

Mr. Ewing explained that as a planning issue, the Board needs to focus on the M-NCPPC and the County Council in relation to local legislation that requires them to curtail development in certain districts and how that relates to school system growth. Mr. Ewing asked that a meeting be set up with the National-Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Mr. Ewing questioned if M-NCPPC or local development offices keep track of jobs that are developed in the county, i.e., lesser paying jobs will result in lost revenues for schools.

Mr. Crispell replied that in the past the county periodically did a survey of resident’s opinions of county services and, even though MCPS always came out high, it was not tied to spending. Mr. Crispell volunteered to check and see if any data was available.
Ms. Gutierrez added that she had the opportunity during Hispanic Heritage Month to attend the second year anniversary of the National Latino Children's Agenda. Its focus is on identifying what are the issues that affect Latino children since they are the largest minority group under the age of 15 years of age. Fairfax County does a survey of language spoken at home. As the Board gets into the classification issues, it will need other types of indicators that leads to understanding of characteristics and profiles of the children enrolled in MCPS. When the Board is presented with so much data, it tends to lose focus on what it really means in terms of children.

Mrs. Gordon thanked Mr. Crispell for his presentation and stated that the Board looks forward to more discussion as the Capital Improvement Plan is presented.

Re: BOARD/SUPERINTENDENT COMMENTS

Mrs. King stated that she inspected the new addition at Damascus High School. Although the whole addition is functional and attractive, there is one hallway in the older section were everything intersects, and this bottleneck should be examined by staff for safety. She also attended the anniversary of Baker Middle School and was impressed by the work and enthusiasm of the students.

Mrs. Gordon reported that she attended the Maryland Association of Boards of Education conference. There were a number of issues that will be very important to Montgomery County as well as the state. Under discussion were three funding bills, high school assessment, private school choice, and statewide teacher salary schedule. Mrs. Gordon indicated that she would be forwarding a summary of some of those issues to Board members.

Mr. Ewing commented on the controversy that is ongoing about the transfer policy and its impact. Lost in the discussion to date has been the important issue of how MCPS goes about assuring that there is a high level of integration and as little isolation as possible. Over the last two decades, MCPS has been highly successful in adapting to and managing the very rapid growth of diversity in the county through a range of means including busing to maintain integration in some schools, magnet schools, transfer policy, and the allocation of resources to some schools. In the process, the Board has made some choices but the choices have squarely put the Board in the middle of the business of choosing the means to maintain integration. The Board has not, for example, followed the route of establishing rigid quotas. Without some regulatory activity on the part of the system, individual choice would probably lead to increased segregation in some parts of the county. It is important for the Board to understand two things: (1) the decisions about how to apply the policy are the decisions that are often subject to controversy, and (2) the Board has on occasion different views than the superintendent. The question is not whether the Board has a good policy but whether we have good objectives. The objective is that the Board does not want schools that produce isolation for any racial or ethnic group.

Ms. Gutierrez commented that the Research and Evaluation Committee had a very successful meeting recently. Staff was prepared to give Board members an in-depth overview of the assessments and the issues that will be facing the Board as it looks at state and local approaches to assessment and mandates.
