Re: BOARD/SUPERINTENDENT COMMENTS

Dr. Vance announced that (1) Burning Tree Elementary School was among 11 schools in Maryland -- and the only school in Montgomery County -- selected to receive a state Blue Ribbon School of Excellence Award and to be among the state nominees for the prestigious national Blue Ribbon awards from the U.S. Department of Education; (2) the success of all interscholastic athletics and particularly those of women athletes; (3) the first annual Academic Performance and Meritorious Progress Awards Program to honor schools on the basis of student achievement on the Criterion Referenced Tests (CRT) for the 1995-96 school year will be held on November 13, and the student performance necessary to receive this recognition represents a significant accomplishment in achieving the student proficiency standards in grades three through eight (schools will be recognized for having achieved from one to eight standards in reading and mathematics); (4) MCPS received an implementation grant of $400,000 from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, and a federal grant of $1.2 million to supplement a school career system; and (5) an interactive budget forum on November 20 on channels 60 and 21.

* Mr. Abrams rejoined the meeting.

Mr. Ewing informed the Board that (1) the Long-Range and Strategic Planning Committee will meet with the chairs of the action groups of the Future Search Conference to lay out next steps and engage them in analyzing and proposing objectives; (2) an article by the Conference Board distributed to the Board deals with in-sourcing as opposed to out-sourcing; and (3) a packet be put together highlighting the grants received by MCPS for innovative programming, particularly in the fields of math and science.

Dr. Cheung stated that (1) a delegation of eight prominent women from the Peoples Republic of China will spend the day at Potomac Elementary School to see first-hand the programs an elementary school in the United States has to offer; and (2) Potomac Elementary School has a new Chinese Immersion Program, which has both kindergarten and first grade immersion classes, and is instructed primarily in Mandarin Chinese (80% of the day) which is the first Chinese Immersion Program in Montgomery County and one of just two such programs nationwide.

Mr. Felton reported that (1) he attended the tenth anniversary of the Howard University’s school for continuing education that is a resource that could partner with MCPS; (2) a group of fathers at John F. Kennedy High School have formed a program to support young males; and (3) the Taylor Materials Center is marketing the school system through science kits not only to our schools but beyond the system with possible revenue potential.

Mrs. King visited three schools with special education programs and it was a treat to see how well the children interacted in the classroom.

Ms. Gutiérrez remarked that (1) she agreed with Mr. Ewing in publicizing innovations in math and science especially in working with the National Science Foundation; and (2) she attended a conference on recruiting minority teachers that focused, among other things, on providing opportunities in high schools for selecting education as a career.

Re: ORAL REPORT OF ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON MINORITY STUDENT EDUCATION

Dr. Vance invited the following people to the table: Dr. Hiawatha B. Foundation, associate superintendent for the Office of Pupil and Community Services; Ms. Shirley Levin, chair of the Advisory Committee on Minority Student Education; and the following members of the committee — Mr. James E. Bailey, Mr. Wai-Yee Chan, Ms. Emma Munos-Duston, Ms. Sonia Arora, and Ms. Shara Kay.

Ms. Levin introduced the discussion by outlining the format for the presentation of three targeted areas: English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) program, parental involvement, and acceptance into honors and advanced placement courses.

Mr. Wai-Yee Chan and Ms. Emma Munos-Duston made the presentation on the ESOL Program with the following comments and recommendations:

Comment 1:
Assessment parameters for achievement of ESOL students include mostly subjective evaluation by teachers and ESOL Staff.

Recommendations:
1. Quantitative tests should be introduced to measure whether an ESOL student is ready to mainstream.
2. Selective native speaker requirements be used to assess non-native speakers’ chances of success in mainstream.
3. Quantitative tests can model after language tests such as TOEFL, etc.

Comment 2:
Lack of detailed monitoring of the performance of ESOL Students.

Recommendations:
Data should be collected and analyzed on --
1. The relationship between the length of students stay in the ESOL program and his/her ultimate performance after leaving the program - this will measure the efficiency of the program.
2. The number of ESOL students successfully integrated into the mainstream curriculum.
3. The number of ESOL students returning to the program after they exited the program and the reason for their re-entry. This and the above will measure the effectiveness of the program.

Comment 3:
Some teachers and staff may not know of how to work with ESOL students.

Recommendations:
1. All faculty and staff should be trained on how to deal with students who are not native speakers of English, and to understand their needs.
Teachers in all subjects, not just the language teachers, should receive some training in how to handle ESOL students.

Comment 4:
Parental involvement is crucial for the success of the ESOL students and should be facilitated.

Recommendation:
The number and diversity of bilingual parent service staff at the ESOL office should be increased according to the census of the MCPS population.

Comment 5:
There is a general lack of communication between the ESOL program office and the Advisory Committee on Minority Student Education.

Recommendations:
1. Consideration should be given to having the chair (or her/his appointee) of the Advisory Committee on Minority Student Education as an ex officio in any initiative involving the ESOL program.
2. The Advisory Committee on Minority Student Education should make the reviewing of the ESOL program an annual or biennial exercise, and report its findings to the Board of Education.

Comment 6:
There is an apparent lack of communication between the ESOL program and the community-based tutoring programs.

Recommendations:
1. The ESOL program should establish formal channels for direct communication with the community-based tutoring programs.
2. MCPS or the ESOL office should facilitate the establishment of after-school tutoring programs by community groups.
3. The ESOL office should investigate the possibility of providing after-school tutoring service to the ESOL students in regions not presently served by the community-based programs.

Comment 7:
The current level of community outreach effort is not sufficient.

Recommendations:
1. Formally recognize successful ESOL students, parents, and staff through meetings and publications of MCPS as well as through the local media.
2. Increase the visibility and accessibility of the ESOL program through events such as an open-house, ESOL day, etc.

Mr. James Bailey presented the advisory committee’s recommendations for additions and modifications to the implementation plans and strategies:

1. Reposition overall responsibility for parental involvement plan execution with leadership at the local school.
   a. Staff organization has little leverage at local school level
   b. Principals have the most impact over local school climate
   c. The responsibility and accountability for parental involvement must rest with the principal.

2. A quantitative measurement process will play a key role in assessing how inviting the local school climate is to parents.
   a. School climate measures should assess how well school communicates and demonstrates its desire to have parental involvement at every parent/student/staff interaction
   b. The climate of the local school can be measured using a customer service assessment model
   c. A near real time feedback mechanism is needed to aid local schools in improving parental involvement through an improved school climate
   d. MCPS must objectively define, measure, and understand the perceptions and expectations of parents in order to improve parental involvement.

3. Why is the customer service measurement model appropriate in the school system to address the parental involvement issue?
   a. MCPS provides what can be considered a very intangible service to the parents of the county
   b. To the degree that MCPS is successful in serving these customers (parents) parental involvement will increase
   c. Any customer service measure model must survey parents who are currently involved and contrast those parents with those who are not currently involved
   d. MCPS needs the data to address the “soft side” of the interactions between the parent and local school staff that either encourages or discourages future involvement. Customer service measure criteria can objectively define key dimensions of staff/parent interactions.

4. The list below outlines possible customer service measures that can begin to help MCPS address areas that may impede parental involvement:
   a. Credibility — trustworthiness, having customer’s best interest at heart
   b. Security — free from danger, risk, or doubt
c. Understanding — making an effort to understand customers’ needs

d. Tangible — physical evidence of service

e. Reliability — consistency of performance

f. Responsiveness — timeliness of service

g. Access — approachability

h. Courtesy — politeness, respect

i. Communications — keeping customers informed in a language they understand

5. Customer service feedback model references.
a. Improvements in actual performance can be achieved with an active customer service survey feedback mechanism to monitor the performance of principals and schools.

6. How to inform parents about the process for influencing the school system?
a. What does a parent need to do if he/she wants — ?
b. A telephone hotline should be established to explain the rights, responsibilities, and process to parents for exerting influence within MCPS. Written documentation can be helpful, but it is not nearly as timely and accessible as a hotline.
c. This telephone hotline should be delivered by a disinterested third party without MCPS process jargon. This would mean that local school officials would not be involved in the delivery of this layman’s version of the information.
d. One telephone number would be provided to parents as their one point of entry into MCPS. The parent would be directed to the appropriate organization and person to get their concerns resolved.
e. A unifying and well-publicized theme would have to be marketed and communicated to parents. It must be clear that MCPS is fundamentally changing the way it interacts with parents.
f. Unfettered access to MCPS and its resources is crucial to the implementation of parent/school power sharing.

7. Conclusions
a. Customer service — based accountability and metrics at the local school level will allow MCPS to continually improve its parent involvement efforts.
b. MCPS has full responsibility for establishing a parental involvement process that works for and is understood by every parent.
c. Parents have full responsibility for advocating for their children within MCPS. The contention for resources and political dynamics in MCPS require the involvement of all parents.
Ms. Sonia Arora and Ms. Shara Kay reported their preliminary analysis of minority students and enrollment in honors and advanced placement courses.

The advisory committee plans to research the presence or lack of minority students in honors and advanced placement (AP) courses.

In support of opening advanced courses to any student who wishes to enroll:
1. Students in honors/AP courses perform better on standardized tests.
2. Guidance staff should inform all students that honors/AP courses are available.
3. A student’s enrollment in honors/AP courses should not be dependent on whether the student was in honors/AP courses the previous year.

In support of a stricter policy on enrollment in advanced courses:
1. The objective of advanced courses is to provide a learning atmosphere in which gifted students can learn at an accelerated rate.
2. Students will be better prepared to perform in advanced classes.
3. Standards will remain high for all students.
4. Students who are motivated will enroll in accelerated classes.
5. Honors/AP classes attain prerequisites necessary for students to succeed.

The Board of Education thanked the advisory committee for its hard work and recommendations. The following comments or observations were made:

1. When the Board is developing and approving policies, it would be helpful to get input from the Board’s advisory committees, especially on the issues within the committee’s charge. (Mrs. Gordon)
2. Because the committee can become frustrated and overwhelmed with the vast number of areas that cross between committees’ charges, the Advisory Committee on Minority Student Education should develop a linkage with other committees, thus ensuring diverse input on a variety of issues. (Mr. Felton)
3. Ms. Levin, chair of the Advisory Committee for Minority Student Education, requested the agendas of other advisory committees in the event there are related issues between two advisory committees.
4. Parental involvement can be facilitated when parents understand the system and have, in some instances, a single point of entry into the system. (Mr. Felton)
5. The hiring of more bilingual educators would help in the understanding of cultural and linguistic diversity among all students, not just ESOL students. (Mr. Felton)
6. A list of the issues the Board wants to address could be provided to the advisory committees. The Board is engaged in developing long-range and strategic plans, and this is an area where advisory committees could help the Board envision where the school system should be in 20 years and appropriate strategies to plan for the future. (Mr. Ewing)
7. There should be a streamlined method of communication for committees to confer with one another on issues of mutual concern and/or recommendations to the Board. (Mrs. King)

8. The information requested of staff should be prioritized by advisory committees because the resources and staff time are limited. (Mr. Abrams)

9. If there were a good information system (individual student profiles), it would be easy to produce aggregated or disaggregated data feedback to the system, parents, and students. (Dr. Cheung)

10. Honors programs need to be started at the elementary level in order to continue with honors and advanced placement courses in middle and high schools. With a targeted approach, minority enrollment in honors and advanced placement courses can be improved. (Ms. Prager)

11. The agenda and minutes of advisory committees should be posted on First Class for greater communication between advisory committees and the community. (Ms. Gutiérrez)

Re: SCHOOL CALENDAR SURVEY

On motion of Mrs. Gordon and seconded by Mr. Abrams, the following resolution was made:

Resolved, That the Board of Education postpone discussion of the School Calendar Survey.

RESOLUTION NO. 739-96 Re: SCHOOL CALENDAR SURVEY

On motion of Mr. Ewing and seconded by Mrs. King, the following substitute motion was adopted with Mr. Abrams, Dr. Cheung, Mr. Ewing, Mr. Felton, Ms. Gutiérrez, Mrs. King, and Ms. Prager voting in the affirmative; Mrs. Gordon voting in the negative:

Resolved, That the Board of Education defer discussing the School Calendar Survey until the end of the agenda, allow 15 minutes for the item, and eliminate a staff presentation of the item.

* The Board recessed for lunch and closed session from 12:00 to 1:45 p.m.

* Mr. Abrams temporarily left the meeting.

Re: NORTHEAST CONSORTIUM

Dr. Vance invited the following staff to the table: Dr. Bruce Crispell, demographic planner; Dr. Marlene Hartzman, director of the Department of Educational Accountability; Mr. Joseph Lavorgna, director of the Department of Educational Facilities Planning and Capital Programming; Dr. Steven G. Seleznow, associate superintendent of the Office of School Administration; and Dr. Lucinda Sullivan, director in the Office of School Administration.

Dr. Vance stated that he feels strongly about his recommendation of preferred choice for the Northeast area. A year does not go by without a discussion on changing how high school students are educated. We have that opportunity before us. The idea of signature programs has come of age, and it is an exciting concept.

Mr. Lavorgna reported that since July 9, 1996, staff prepared as well as obtained information from the public. Staff met with cluster coordinators, developed and sent a brochure to 30,000 households in the northeast consortium, distributed a controlled choice packet to all schools and libraries, held outreach meetings, and conducted forums. There were also two feedback mechanisms: a form at the forums and a survey mailed to parents. The Springbrook Forum was videotaped and rebroadcast seven times.
Mr. Crispell highlighted some of the cluster comments in Appendix C. The Paint Branch Cluster thought that preferred choice came out late in the process, controlled or preferred choice should have a narrow demographic range, more information was needed to form an opinion, choice should have financial support, and choice was an opportunity to strengthen programs and provide a new and innovative opportunities. The Sherwood Cluster repeatedly advised the school system that they did not wish to participate in choice, wanted traditional boundaries, and were concerned about a single theme in a high school. The Springbrook Cluster supported choice, but raised the following concerns: more information on signature programs, funding commitments, base areas, details on transportation, and Sherwood should participate.

Dr. Hartzman described the two surveys (forum feedback and mail) designed to see how much information parents got and the types of the signature programs and interests. Seventy-five percent of the parents attending the forums responded that they were fairly well informed. Program interests were hard sciences and computer science. The mail survey replicated the results of the forum feedback forms.

Dr. Seleznov stated that it has been difficult to develop the signature programs because the Board has yet to make a decision on whether to implement a choice program. In terms of planning, the signature programs are being developed to give the Board and community a sense of what these themes will offer. First, each program was established and needed to be distinctive and different from one another as well as marketable consistent with this region of the county. Staff has clearly established that any final program plans and designs will be brought to the Board for review, discussion, and approval. Staff has been working together to assure that the programs in the signatures developed are substantive, content rich, consistent with MCPS comprehensive high school standards, consistent with Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE) standards, and consistent with the Middle States Evaluation. Planning committees have been established in each high school. The signature programs are expected to offer and focus on authentic projects and programs, problem solving and application, research and simulations, performances and exhibitions, and extensive internships and externship process. In addition, partnerships will be established with leading regional, national, and international organizations, institutions, corporations, and foundations to use their expertise to develop these ideas and concepts to create a strong program. An important characteristic of signature programs is that they must provide options for all students to be included not excluded. The approval process must include all key elements of curriculum; Program of Studies; and federal, state and local requirements. This concept presents an exciting opportunity for staff training and rejuvenation.

Dr. Sullivan detailed the staff work on developing the signature programs. At the present time, four signature programs are evolving: Paint Branch High School -- science and research across the disciplines as well as health careers and medical research; Sherwood High School -- international relations and foreign affairs as well as foreign languages;
Northeast High School -- performing and visual arts; and Springbrook High School -- International Baccalaureate Program as well as computer science. In developing the signature programs, staff capitalized on the strengths of the high school that were already in place. Each high school will be a comprehensive high school with electives available to support the signature program.

Mr. Bowers reported on the cost implications of preferred choice. As the Board is aware, this is an ongoing effort and initiative to improve innovative models in high schools and money has been allocated for this purpose in the current and upcoming operating budgets. The operating budget for the schools in the Northeast Consortium is similar to other high schools with approximately $80,000 for each of the next six years for program development, program coordination, and staff training. What is different for the signature programs in the Northeast Consortium is the middle school counseling component that is recommended and critical for preparing students to make choices, informing parents about choices, and managing the student selection and notification process. The transportation component will provide services to any of the schools within the consortium at approximately $125,000 beyond the costs of standard boundary changes. The final issue is capital costs — facilities and equipment — that will be costed out after the signature programs have been selected. The primary focus of this effort is to enhance the educational excellence and innovative models in the high schools.

Mrs. Gemberling added that the Board and staff have been part of many boundary changes and developed programs throughout the school system. The consensus of staff is the comfort and excitement in the proposal of preferred choice. Boundary changes are a difficult process, and programs should not be driven by facilities. This is an opportunity to move forward with an innovative program with preferred choice where students will be assigned to a base school, with program options that are unique.

The Board of Education asked the following questions or made comments and/or observations:

1. Preferred choice provides opportunities for change and a promise for all students regardless of their abilities and strengths/weaknesses and provides options to help them be successful outside of the school system. What is the development of the process within each school, and how that is proceeding given the different starting times and individualized programs? What are the costs if there are fewer than four schools participating and would $80,000 minus counseling services be subtracted from the totals as well as reflecting 75 percent of the transportation costs? (Mrs. Gordon)

2. The concept of a mega-cluster is a good idea; however, the community should have been informed earlier on the concept or details of controlled choice and then preferred choice. I have strong reservations about signature programs and signature schools. In a signature school, there is a core of comprehensive courses with added electives supporting the signature program. Springbrook High School is considering the IB program in which there is a fixed course outline with high academic expectations and international curriculum standards. Can an average student get a regular high school education from Springbrook High School? (Mr. Abrams)

3. Over a year ago, the Board passed a resolution stating the capital and operating budgets should be more closely linked. What are the underlying assumptions of transportation costs for preferred choice, and why does staff think the estimated costs for all supports are accurate for supporting the program? What are the admissions procedures to the preferred choice model. What policy governs the admission process and what changes, if any, need to be made? Also, how much choice, in reality, will students have under this plan? If preferred choice is not adopted, will signature programs still be available to students? The administrative mechanisms of preferred choice are not clear. (Mr. Ewing)

4. How will the community be updated on the implementation of preferred choice? What is the average length bus ride to participate in preferred choice? The people attending the forums were not representative of the community’s diversity. After reading about it, meeting with the Controlled Choice representative from Harvard University, and learning about it, choice presents new opportunities. With choice, a community is bonded by interest and not location. Choice will encourage additional participation in the community. (Ms. Prager)

5. Preferred choice is an innovative model, but information and clarification are still needed to help the community understand and support the concept. The concept of choice needs community support in order to work. How much support is needed to make preferred choice work in the Northeast Consortium, e.g., three or two schools? (Mr. Felton)

6. The Sherwood community is adamantly against participating in preferred choice, and it is doubtful if the program could successfully achieve its goals without cooperation of the community. (Mrs. King)

7. One constant in life is change, and children will adapt to any new program better than their parents. What is best for all children? If preferred choice is not accepted, the boundaries will be decided in the traditional manner. Boundary changes are very painful to a community, and there are no innovative programs to add educational opportunities to the community. The staff and community will redefine preferred choice as the program is finalized. The Board should do what is best for the students and not worry about the political aspects. (Dr. Cheung)

8. The issue before the Board started as a boundary issue where high school students were to be assigned from three to four high schools. Using the QIE Policy as a guide, it is not an easy or obvious boundary issue to decide. All of the cluster communities and adjacent clusters have spent valuable time in the process that led to controlled choice. This decision ties programmatic innovation to facility choices, and is a win/win solution. If there had been a more mature presentation of controlled/preferred choice, there might not have been misunderstanding within the
The Board of Education took a break from 4:50 to 5:20 p.m. at this point.

Re:  ACTIVITY FEES

It was the consensus of the Board, as voted upon by all members, that the following language clarifies the intent of the Board when adopting the extracurricular activity fee for middle school sports:

Middle school and high school students are required to pay an annual extracurricular activity fee of $40 to participate in any after-school extracurricular activity for which a stipend is being paid to a sponsor. Stipends are to be paid to sponsors only for extracurricular activities they do with students after school. Student participation in after-school extracurricular activities means that participation is voluntary, not a course requirement, and students’ grades are not based on the extracurricular activity. Students who are enrolled in a course and also choose voluntarily to participate in a related after-school activity are required to pay the $40 fees. Students who are required to participate in a mandatory curricular activity that happens to occur after school, such as an evening concert performance, do not pay a fee because the activity is not extracurricular.

Re: SCHOOL CALENDAR SURVEY

Dr. Vance invited Dr. Marlene Hartzman, director for the Department of Educational Accountability, to the table.

Dr. Hartzman stated that this is a customer survey to ascertain what the constituents wanted in the school calendar. The last survey was conducted in 1973. The results of the current survey are reliable since the sample was large, and the majority of people were satisfied with the current school calendar.

The Board members made the following observations:

1. The half days in the school calendar have received numerous complaints by the parents of school children. (Ms. Signer)
2. Students should be included in the survey since they are the consumers most directly affected by the school calendar. (Ms. Prager)
3. The school system needs a mechanism to look at the issues of religious holidays in relation to the staff and student population. (Ms. Gutiérrez)
