RESOLUTION NO. 44-97  Re: PERSONNEL APPOINTMENT

On recommendation of the superintendent and on motion of Dr. Cheung seconded by Mrs. Gordon, the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the following personnel appointment be approved effective February 3, 1997:
Dr. Vance invited the following people to the table: Dr. Jerry Shier, 1995-96 chairman of the Medical Advisory Committee; Ms. Robin Confino, assistant to the deputy superintendent and staff liaison to the committee; Mr. G.C. Edward Masood, director of the Division of Aesthetic, Health, and Physical Education; and Mr. Russell Henke, coordinator of Health Education.

Dr. Shier presented the following recommendations from the Medical Advisory Committee (MAC):

Recommendation I - MCPS Health Curriculum

Provide greater staff oversight of the health education curriculum in the elementary and middle school levels to better guarantee less variability in the delivery of the health education program.

Reinforce to school administrators that this portion of the student's education should be an integral part of the curriculum (such that appropriate classroom space is available, reference materials and adequate time are made available to teach this material, and that teachers are encouraged to take the time to educate themselves so they are better prepared to teach the material).

Continue to fund instructional materials and teacher training.

Take advantage of the Montgomery County Medical Society as a source of experts in certain health education areas. These physicians have always been, and will continue to be, available for classroom time to teach portions of the health education curriculum.

Finally, MAC is impressed by the high school education course which includes the discussion of many unhealthy lifestyle choices and their consequences. Unfortunately, there is a lack of reinforcement beyond the half-credit. MAC would like to see the Board of Education encourage high school principals to creatively continue this education through assemblies, discussion groups, or the development of half-credit electives in health education.
Recommendation II - Medical Emergencies

MAC has made direct recommendations to the Montgomery County Department of Health and Human Services on certain issues and would like your ideas on how to better verify medical card information. MAC would like to understand the back-up system if no medical support staff is available. Finally, MAC would like to see a better reporting system of medical emergencies in the schoolhouse.

Recommendation III - Anaphylaxis

Due to the variability in the delivery of acute care for an allergic reaction, MAC would like to see the availability of life saving medication (epinephrine) in every school. Montgomery County has the opportunity to be a state leader in this area. Twenty (20) states have enacted legislation similar to Bill 438 so we are not entering uncharted territory. The Maryland legislature has solicited public comment on how best to structure and administer the provisions in Bill 438.

MAC feels that any protocol created by the state should include standard emergency procedure which includes dialing 911. In the case of anaphylaxis on the school grounds, an unsupervised non-medical individual would never be acting alone if 911 was called.

Epinephrine is a safe and effective means of reviving a life threatening allergic reaction. The previous history of allergic reactions in our schools should not guide our decision process. The saving of one life will justify our efforts.

Recommendation IV - Physical Education

MAC had a consensus that physical education at all levels should be five days a week, but there was general understanding of the conflict of requirements with that philosophy. MAC recommends a two credit or four semester requirement for high school students and would like to see a minimum of three days of physical education per week at the elementary school level.

Recommendation V - Tobacco Use

MAC agrees with the concept of smoke-free schools, but the enforcement seems to be an issue as reported by many of our patients with respiratory disorders. Reportedly the bathrooms, in particular, continue to be a major problem. MAC would like to see the consistent enforcement of tobacco-free schools.
Recommendation VI - Violence in The Schoolhouse

Peer mediation is a worthwhile program that is not present in each school. MAC would like to see a push for expansion of this program to all schools. Peer mediation is also only available to a select few in each school. MAC would like to see conflict resolution skills taught to the entire student body. MAC would like to see better reporting of incidents of violence in order to better assess this issue. MAC recommends continued funding for security and also recommends continued funding for peer mediation training.

Recommendation VII - Alternative Programs in MCPS

Although MAC did not review the curriculum in the alternative programs in detail, we feel that these students have benefitted enormously from their experiences in these settings. MAC applauds the Board of Education for funding alternative programs and encourages continued funding for programs that meet the needs of students at risk.

Recommendation VIII - HIV and Other Sexually Transmitted Diseases

MAC has provided all Board Members previously with the full report from the American Academy of Pediatrics and recommends that each Board Member review this information in order to keep current on this issue.

RESOLUTION NO. 45-97 Re: MEDICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE’S ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1995-96

On recommendation of the superintendent and on motion of Dr. Cheung seconded by Mrs. Gordon, the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the Board of Education accept the Medical Advisory Committee’s Annual Report for 1995-96 as information.

Dr. Cheung thought the committee had provided a very good report. The issues raised are very important, not only for the students, but also from a public health standpoint. He had no problem with staff being trained to administer the EPI-PENS, but the issue of liability is always a concern. He questioned whose responsibility it is to educate citizens about health remedies and how the care for themselves. He hoped that the Medical Advisory Committee (MAC) would work with the school system to develop curriculum to include health care of common symptoms.

Mr. Ewing spoke about the recommendation on anaphylaxis and the use of epinephrine in the schools. He requested a legal opinion on the administration of epinephrine by staff. Staff at the school are overtaxed, and it would be hard to add another task to their job descriptions. If MCPS moves forward with training staff to administer epinephrine, how would it be handled and by whom, who would pay for it, and how would MCPS manage it.

Ms. Prager was impressed with MAC’s recommendations with some being plausible while others are more controversial. She remarked about the prohibition of tobacco use on school grounds, but implementation of that policy varies greatly throughout the school system. Dr. Vance assured her that security assistants will emphasize the enforcement of the policy. Ms. Prager mentioned that 13 schools have peer mediation and asked if there was a way to promote expansion of the program. She also asked for information on why there are no nurses available to alternative programs. She asked for a copy of the American Academy of Pediatrics’ report that recently approved a policy statement on condom availability for youths. She also requested more information on programs where condom availability was successful in combating pregnancy and disease.

Ms. Gutiérrez was interested in hearing from the committee on the staff responses. Dr. Shier commented that from a medical standpoint, the issues related to condom availability and epinephrine availability are specific issues that the committee would like to see action on. Ms. Gutiérrez asked about the date when the regulations from the state would be available for implementation within the county. Mr. Henke replied that the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene is still in the process of drafting the regulation.

Ms. Gutiérrez stated that national and locally there have been increasing reports of the use of marijuana, and she was interested in MAC looking into that situation. Her final inquiry was on the violence in the school system and peer mediation/conflict resolution. She asked if there was a structured conflict resolution program that MCPS is providing to students, and are there areas that could be improved?

Mrs. King asked how many life threatening episodes from anaphylaxis are encountered by the school system within a year. Ms. Confino replied that there were 10 since July 1, 1996. Mrs. King stated that the “smoking corner” bothers her the most. Mr. Masood replied that it is a state law prohibiting tobacco use of any kind on school grounds.

Mr. Felton stated that the trend toward tobacco use must be stemmed, and it is very frightening health issue. Condom availability is also a health issue in the community.

Mrs. Gordon stated that the health technicians and nurses should be responsible first for administering epinephrine before MCPS staff is trained for this purpose. Regarding tobacco use, it is not just students, but adults. Use of tobacco is not just in the bathrooms, but on school grounds. The state law has not been very well advertised, and people have not been well educated about that law. She also asked if there was a directive or was the peer mediation program voluntary.
RESOLUTION NO. 46-97  Re:  MEDICAL EMERGENCY/ANAPHYLAXIS

On motion of Mr. Ewing and seconded by Ms. Signer, the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the Board of Education request that the superintendent provide the Board of Education with a legal opinion on the nature and extent of staff liability regarding the use of epinephrine for students and staff; and be it further

Resolved, That the superintendent develop a plan to be considered by the Board, County Executive, and County Council for school nurses and health technicians adequate in number to meet the needs of students, not only for anaphylaxis, but for other medical emergencies and other health needs; and be it further

Resolved, That the superintendent bring to the Board for information a copy of the legislation on this subject and the draft of state regulations, when those are available, so that comments can be made on those regulations, if the Board chooses to do so.

Re:  SPECIAL EDUCATION ISSUES THAT HAVE BUDGETARY IMPLICATIONS

Dr. Vance invited the following staff members to the table: Dr. Mary Helen Smith, associate superintendent of the Office of Instruction and Program Development; Dr. Raymond Bryant, director of the Department of Special Education; and Dr. Marshall Spatz, director of the Department of management, Budget and Planning.

Dr. Smith focused on the vision for special education in Montgomery County which is to increase the availability for every school to implement early intervention strategies. Therefore, students do not need to be coded for higher level and more expensive services, but could receive services earlier that will enable them to be successful. MCPS would like to serve students in their home schools, wherever possible. Finally, MCPS is looking at unification of services that provide for student’s special needs.

Dr. Bryant highlighted the following areas of the paper:

1. Budget Recommendations - a process in gathering stakeholders to develop recommendations reflecting prior issues, concerns with special education, and working together to consolidate needs and services.
2. Comparative Costs - staff looked at the costs of public and private providers.
3. Joint Study Committee - the group looked at workload (reducing, preventing, and managing) and other concerns and issues that have been utilized in developing the budget.
4. Comprehensive Programs - MCPS special education offers many methodologies and programs for children from birth to age 21.
5. Cluster Model - this concept is included in this year’s budget which saves transportation costs by keeping students in their home schools or clusters.

6. Non-public Placements - staff has worked to reduced non-public placements by increasing the number of programs within MCPS that are comparable to other placements.

7. Technology - staff is utilizing technology to minimize workloads and meet compliance deadlines.

8. Collaboration with Non-public Schools - staff has explored ways to work with these schools where it is are cost effective and meets the needs of students.

9. COMAR - MCPS has worked with the state to revise regulations to reflect the IDEA.

10. Mediation - MCPS continues to promote mediation as a dispute resolution mechanism.

Mrs. Gordon questioned enrollment growth and the lack of being able to accurately forecast growth in special education populations to the point that MCPS had quite a large increase this year that was not anticipated. She asked if there was another way to anticipate enrollment outside the facilities planning process. Dr. Bryant replied that end and beginning of year counts have been used this year for projections. Mrs. Gordon asked if MCPS does any work with other agencies that may have students poised for entering MCPS. Dr. Smith stated that there are MCPS programs including pre-schoolers and, therefore, staff is prepared to service them when they become school aged. Staff also works with private providers, and the students they are serving. Finally, staff works with Health and Human Services with the Infants and Toddlers Program and the System Reform Initiative where information on students is also collected. Mrs. Gordon inquired about the Takoma Park unification and the number of special education students that were in private placements. Dr. Smith stated that MCPS knows who they are and will encourage the students to enrollment in MCPS programs.

Ms. Signer was concerned about the increasing legal fees in special education. During the budget hearings, she asked about the allegation that MCPS has children in classes that are above the COMAR ratios and will the increase in staffing address that problem? She also asked about the mediation process in private placements. Is there data on the extent to which IEPs are met? Finally, has MCPS recently looked at the cost benefit of hiring an in-house attorney to handle some of the special education cases? Mr. Bowers replied that the increase in staffing will meet the projected increases in enrollment. Dr. Bryant reacted that mediation is not used when a family requests private placement and that family rejects all of MCPS’ alternatives. IEPs will be tracked with the new technology. With legal fees, it is beneficial to have the flexibility of having both in-house and outside counsel when dealing with multiple appeals at the same time.

Ms. Gutiérrez wanted more information on the positions and funds in special education and asked to be provided with the linkage, in more detail, on the charts provided to her as a supplement of the Board agenda item. As the theme of the conference she attended, special education is a national issue with respect to unfunded mandates. It is very important for school systems to disaggregate all the costs in providing special education services. This is a good start, but MCPS has a lot more to do especially with tangential services. The reasons it is important for the school system to do this is because there is a ramification of costs that infiltrate the total budget. If the proposals for legislation are passed at the federal level, there will be a need to specifically respond to the costs in order for reimbursements or services allocated to other agencies.

Mr. Ewing requested information on the effort to better estimate future special education enrollment projections, what has been done to develop that forecast better, the factors, the calculations, and assumptions.

Mr. Felton asked for the special education costs per student by categories, intensities, and/or group of conditions.

Re: BOARD/SUPERINTENDENT COMMENTS

Dr. Vance stated that a press conference was held to announce official confirmation from the International Baccalaureate Organization in Geneva, Switzerland, of Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School as part of the academically rigorous International Baccalaureate program. This addition to the school’s curriculum is the result of the combined efforts of school staff and community members and of the support provided by the Board of Education for this and other signature programs in the school system.

Mrs. King reported that she and Dr. Vance joined other representatives of the school community for the press conference, which described the opportunities for students that will be provided by the International Baccalaureate program of studies. It was very special being there, and the excitement was electric. Mrs. King also remarked that she and Ms. Prager went to Annapolis to argue for several of the proposed bills. The student vote was defeated, the 6th grade vote was a four - four split, the activity fee bill is delayed, and the transportation bill also delayed for lack of information.

Ms. Gutiérrez reported that she has been attending the NSBA Federal Relations Network Conference. There are three major issues: (1) special education costs, especially discipline and legal costs; (2) asbestos abatement; and (3) funding for a technology infrastructure.

Mr. Ewing hoped Lucy Maurer’s name would be placed on the list of eligible future school names. Mr. Ewing commented that he was a reporter in his youth, and he has high regard for reporters and journalism as a profession. As a Board member, he has always been reluctant to criticize the media. He was distressed by the stories on educational load and student per capita expenditures. The stories are examples of the worst in journalistic practice. The stories feature incomplete data, analyses that fails to reflect the complexity of the relationship of the factors that go into these considerations, comparisons of unlike phenomena, conclusions that are poorly substantiated or not substantiated at all, and consider, in many cases, only those data that support a hypothesis with which the stories clearly began. They state hypotheses as fact (when there is no real evidence that sustains those hypotheses), and blatant editorializing in what purports to be news stories (such as the title of the story — “The Rich Get Richer”). Educational load is only one mechanism for allocating resources, and it is one that is new and not all together tried as a method for doing that. Resources are not staff salaries, they are staff efforts. Differences or variations among schools are enormous and go well beyond the differences that have to do with staff salaries. They have to do with transportation, expense of maintaining old heating and air-conditioning equipment. Some programs are more expensive than others -- French Immersion is cheap; special education programs are expensive. Extra staff is assigned to schools with gifted and talented programs and ESOL programs. The size of the school leads to variations because of the efficiencies or lack thereof. All of these factors are reasons why an approach to budgeting that gives each school a certain amount of dollars makes no sense whatsoever, unless you insist that every school have an equal number of teachers at every salary level. That is not the way we staff, and not the way we ought to staff. The result of all of this is that the public has been mislead, controversy has begun on incomplete and poorly analyzed facts, anger has been generated over what is asserted to be inequity in allocations, and the suggestion has been made that either the school system is indifferent to all of that or has taken deliberate action to give more to the schools that are attended by affluent students. Apart from the inaccuracies and apart from the fact that it misleads, it does great harm to this public school system. That is not a concern of the media, and Mr. Ewing does not ask them to be concerned about that. The quality of this journalism is the worst Mr. Ewing has seen in many years in reporting on the public schools in Montgomery County. He is deeply distressed by it, and he thought every citizen in Montgomery County ought to be distressed by it. He hoped they would all let the Gazette know that this is no way to get accurate information to the public about what the public schools are all about.

Mr. Felton commented that the Board had an opportunity to go with the county executive and other county officials before the Governor with regard to construction funding. The Board also met with the delegation in Annapolis. Both events were successful.
