Re: UPDATE ON TEACHER PROFESSIONAL GROWTH SYSTEM EVALUATION – YEAR 3

Dr. Weast invited the following people to the table: Mrs. Darlene Merry, associate superintendent for staff development; Mr. Matthew Tronzano, acting associate superintendent for human resources; Ms. Bonnie Cullison, president of MCEA; Dr. Julia Koppich, lead investigator; Dr. Karen Kortecamp, lead investigator from George Washington University; and Dr. Fran Prolman, senior consultant from Research for Better Teaching, Inc. Also, available to come to the table for questions were: Dr. Rebecca Newman, president of MCAASP; Ms. Suzanne Merchlinsky, evaluation specialist, Office of Shared Accountability; principals; staff development teachers; consulting teachers; in-district trainers; and members of the Teacher Professional Growth System (PGS) Implementation Team and the PGS Evaluation Oversight Committee.

Staff explained that the intent of the discussion was to provide the Board of Education with the findings and recommendations of the PGS third year evaluation report. The goal of the PGS, which began four years ago as a key initiative in the Our Call to Action: Pursuit of Excellence plan, was to build the capacity of teachers so that they had the knowledge, skills, strategies, practices, and beliefs to meet the needs of all students. This evaluation is a status report about the progress to date from a national expert’s perspective after her review of all of the evaluation data sources. The PGS Implementation Team, comprised of key stakeholders and office leaders, will examine the findings and recommendations to determine the next steps. The bottom line is that the report indicates that the PGS is a critical element of the MCPS reform effort, and it is making a powerful difference in teaching and learning.
To continuously analyze the progress of the PGS strategies and initiatives in the strategic plan, staff structured a three-year evaluation process. Dr. Weast presented the executive summary of the report and the entire third year evaluation report, “Implementing the Professional Growth System in Montgomery County Public Schools: Third Year Evaluation Report.” Additionally, sub reports that assess progress in the component areas of the PGS have been placed in a notebook in the Board of Education office for Board members’ review. As in the previous two years, Dr. Julia Koppich, a highly respected expert in the field of teacher quality and the principal evaluator for MCPS, prepared the report. Dr. Koppich’s report provides findings synthesized from a range of evaluation data gathered by internal and external researchers. Of note, Dr. Koppich states:

“Research suggests that focusing on the elements that compose the PGS – teacher professional growth, standards-based evaluation, and an emphasis on academic rigor and continuous improvement for all students – will contribute to improved results. If the data from the initial years of PGS implementation are a bellwether, MCPS seems well on its way to its goal of ensuring a productive learning environment for all of its students.”

Further, Dr. Koppich references the significant gains MCPS students have made in Advanced Placement testing, SAT participation, and the California Test of Basic Skills (CTBS) results for second graders. In her summary statement, she notes: “The district can reasonably attribute this gain to its reform efforts over the last four years.” Clearly, the resources that have been put in place to support this initiative have been well spent. As is required under the No Child Left Behind legislation, MCPS has made significant progress using a scientifically based approach for the improvement of teacher quality. This approach has become a national model. Dr. Koppich’s lead recommendation notes “Evaluation results suggest MCPS should continue on its current PGS implementation path. Implementation is proceeding smoothly on many dimensions and continued attention to implementation likely will have additional salutary benefits over time.” This message tells MCPS to stay on its mission.

In 1999, when Dr. Weast first came to MCPS and began to review student achievement data, it was evident that MCPS was facing a persistent gap between the achievement of African American and Hispanic students and white and Asian students. There were concerns about the trends in student learning results, and there was a need to take immediate action. Through a broad stakeholder input process, and under the direction of the Board of Education, MCPS embarked on a rigorous process of reviewing the research-based practices related to teacher quality that were producing student achievement results. The teacher PGS became one of the major elements of the Workforce Excellence initiative in the Our Call to Action plan, and a substantial budget was focused on this initiative. Additionally, the Montgomery County Education Association (MCEA) worked with the Board to agree upon a landmark negotiated contract agreement that focused on teacher quality and shared accountability for results. The staff development budget grew from 1% to 3% of the total district budget. Whereas businesses often allocate 6% of their budgets on capacity building, MCPS believed it was headed in the right direction with the increase.

The PGS comprises six principal elements:
1. A common language and common framework for teaching gained primarily through the courses Studying Skillful Teaching (SST) and Observing and Analyzing Teaching (OAT);
2. Job-embedded professional development under the guidance of school-based Staff Development Teachers;
3. Time to participate in ongoing professional development for all teachers through the Staff Development Substitute Teacher Project;
4. Teacher-directed professional growth through individual Professional Development Plans (PDPs);
5. A Peer Assistance and Review Program (PAR) for teachers new to teaching and for under-performing experienced teachers; and
6. A teacher evaluation system based on standards of effective practice from the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards.

One of the intended outcomes of the PGS is to infuse throughout MCPS an ethic of continuous improvement through professional learning communities of shared beliefs and accountability in which standards-based teaching results are consistently improving student learning.

The triangulation of qualitative and quantitative data gathered for this evaluation of the PGS provides a concise but comprehensive view of the current state of implementation of the system. The work was overseen by the PGS Oversight Evaluation Committee consisting of staff from the offices of Staff Development, Human Resources, School Performance, and Shared Accountability and partners from MCEA and the Montgomery County Association of Administrative and Supervisory Personnel (MCAASP). For purposes of this evaluation, data were gathered primarily through administrator and teacher surveys, case studies, interviews, and focus groups. Along with Dr. Koppich, who served as the lead investigator, a team of evaluators from George Washington University completed case studies about the Staff Development Teacher project, and staff from the Office of Shared Accountability provided rich data from both surveys and reliability studies. Additionally, partners from Research for Better Teaching, Inc., one of the major service providers for MCPS, served on the committee to provide their perspective and to determine mid-course corrections for delivery of services. Finally, the Oversight Committee created a unique action research component for the program evaluation. A study team comprised of 40 teacher and administrator volunteers was trained to conduct interviews with peers at 20 schools. The focus of this research was to determine the impact of the PGS on schools, including both daily instructional practices and the cultivation of a professional learning committee at the local school level.
The major findings from the evaluation report are identified below. Additional findings are related specifically to the staff development teacher project and the Peer Assistance and Review (PAR) project. These findings from sub reports have been incorporated into the findings listed below.

1. Administrators and teachers concur that implementation of the PGS is moving in the right direction.
2. The PGS is bringing about substantial changes in teaching.
3. The SDT Project gives form and substance to the PGS.
4. Implementation of Professional Development Plans is improving, but is not yet smooth and consistent across the district.
5. The MCPS teacher evaluation system is a significant step forward.
6. The MCPS Peer Assistance and Review Program seems to be off to a smooth and productive start.
7. The PGS is promoting the evolution of professional learning communities in MCPS schools, though this evolution is not yet complete.

Dr. Koppich and the team from George Washington University worked independently of school system staff to develop impartial recommendations that could strengthen the PGS. These evaluators reviewed research that would help inform MCPS about some next possible steps. Staff asked the evaluators to be both broad-based and specific in their recommendations and not to be guided by current budgetary restraints or issues related to contract language or current practices. They identified the following as their key recommendations:

- Continue implementation of the PGS.
- Consider making Studying Skillful Teaching available in different formats and venues to make it more widely accessible to teachers.
- Continue to review the impact of the SDT Program in high schools with a continuing eye to discovering the most successful model(s).
- Continue the Staff Development Substitute component of the PGS.
- Take steps to ensure that SDTs are focused on the primary responsibilities as indicated in their job descriptions.
- Continue to monitor the development and implementation of PDPs with an eye toward additional changes that might be warranted.
- Take steps to resolve the evaluator dilemma of the MCPS PAR Program.
- Consider adding a Consulting Teacher (CT) Assist component to PAR.
- Continue monitoring development of professional learning communities in MCPS.

A major element of success that was not noted in the findings or the recommendations but was noted in the implementation section of the report is the successful collaboration that has occurred around the PGS. The leadership of MCEA has shown, through both their words and their actions, that they are strong supporters of this initiative. A multi-stakeholder group comprises the Teacher PGS Implementation Team, and it meets on a monthly basis to solve problems around the PGS, as well as to promote the actions that need to be taken to ensure fidelity of implementation. As with the past two evaluation reports, this team will provide the structure for follow up on the findings. This PGS implementation team will review each of the findings in the major and sub reports to determine what implementation factors need mid-course corrections. It is important to note that many of the recommendations in the third year evaluation are ongoing items that have been addressed by the implementation team and are being monitored continuously.

Below are the specific next steps for continuous improvement that the implementation team is charged with reviewing:

- Identify ways to make the Studying Skillful Teaching course more broadly available to teachers.
- Continue to monitor the staff development teacher project and assess the changes that have been made in the use of the high school staff development teacher position.
- Continue to monitor the use of the Professional Development Plan and identify successful practices that can be shared across schools.
- Continue qualitative and quantitative assessments of the PAR program to determine best methodologies for delivering service.
- Discuss further strategies for ensuring consistency of implementation for all of the components.

The Board’s continued support of this essential initiative is imperative, and staff will provide future updates about progress as staff works to ensure fidelity of implementation.

Re: DISCUSSION

Mr. Lange inquired about teachers of the same discipline receiving staff development. He had concerns about the capacity of staff to give all teachers a quality SST program. He asked if it would be spread out over academic areas or watered down for quantity. Dr. Weast was emphatic that the program would not be watered down although MCPS did not have the capacity to fully implement the program. Therefore, the funding will provide targeted training to stay on course.

Mr. Felton inquired about national interest in a similar program. He thought a more collaborative effort with colleges and universities would provide teachers that are more prepared for the classroom. Dr. Prolman replied that the Research for Better Teaching is working collaboratively with teaching institutions. She thought it would be ideal if courses were based on the strategies professed by MCPS. If half a dozen school systems are implementing the same kind of professional growth system, there could be a collaboration with one or more of those systems.

Mr. Burnett pointed out that MCPS has to train and prepare teachers, and he wanted to know if there was a profile of a teacher that MCPS wanted to train who would be in the system for an extended period of time. Ms. Merry explained that new teachers are inculcated with MCPS' expectations. Dr. Prolman replied that a mandated course does not get the desired results, but teachers must see the benefits of the course to elevate the conversation on the profession.

Ms. Cox thought the system was building a culture change, and the PGS was part of the development for all teachers, especially new teachers. Dr. Weast commented on all the elements of staff development. One course will not make a better teacher. Substitute time will not make a better teacher. A new evaluation system will not make a better teacher. Having excellent teachers involves selecting personnel, inculcating them with the MCPS learning structure, ensuring they understand the curriculum and know what a child is expected to accomplish, and exposing them to people such as highly trained principals, colleagues, staff development teachers, and consulting teachers.

Mr. Romero thought the PGS is not aligned with the high school structure. Is there a new paradigm to the SST for high school teachers? Could the clusters develop content area instruction? Dr. Kortecamp responded that the scale of the high school creates a challenge for staff development teachers, and clustering staff development teachers in content areas is an excellent idea. However, teachers are reluctant to leave the building for staff development training. Another option would be a staff development coordinator to facilitate training. Ms. Merry mentioned that job-embedded training at the local school is the heart of the system. Dr. Weast pointed out that the resource teacher is a teacher of teachers, especially within a content area. Therefore, the staff development teacher instructs resource teachers.

Mrs. O’Neill was pleased with the recommendations, but reform in teaching and collaboration takes time and money. Furthermore, MCPS must give the teachers and administrators the technology resources to use data wisely. Then, the system should support its teachers with training and support.

Mr. Lange believed that the evaluation of teachers is complex and time consuming, and he asked about the depth of the evaluation process. Ms. Jean Haven, principal of Takoma Park Middle School, replied that she counseled each teacher about the evaluation standards, the teachers prepared for that interview, and the outline for the evaluation was readied. Ms. Newman thought that the training of principals is very time consuming, and the implementation of the process has helped make principals faster and better at evaluations.

Mr. Lange asked if all consulting teachers remain in that position for three years. Ms. Merry replied that very few consulting teachers ask for reassignment. Ms. Cullison thought the majority of the consulting teachers are effective and content when the job is the right match for their skill sets.

Ms. Cox asked if benchmarks would be identified to determine if the sum and substance of the PGS has been institutionalized. There is a discrepancy in viewpoints at this time, especially in high schools. She was concerned that there was more than one data source on whether or not staff has inculcated the values and practices throughout the system. Ms. Merry thought the benchmarks would come in two different areas – monitoring by the community superintendents and the PGS for administrators. Dr. Weast added that most school systems do not track implementation of the evaluation system. He thought the Board would be disheartened if it knew how long it takes to get a change of culture and said it is vital to stay the course.

Ms. Cox noted that this was the final outside evaluation of the PGS, and she asked if there were resources to continue monitoring to make changes. Ms. Merry stated that the Office of Shared Accountability will provide support, and if further outside evaluation is needed, it will be put back into the process. Dr. Weast said he was planning on a five-year outside review of the PGS.

STRATEGIC PLANNING FOR CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT

A. PURPOSE

The Board of Education is committed to strategic planning for continuous improvement in order to provide an effective instructional program, ensure success for every student, strengthen productive partnerships for education, and create a positive work environment in a self-renewing organization.

B. ISSUES

Strategic planning must guide the work of MCPS in providing a high quality, world-class education that ensures success for every student through excellence in teaching and learning. It is essential that a broad range of stakeholders actively participate in this process. To that end, the strategic planning process must:

1. Use organizational assessment criteria that evaluate leadership; strategic planning; students, stakeholder, and community focus; measurement analysis and knowledge management; faculty and staff focus; process management; and organizational performance results

2. Develop on an ongoing basis a five-year plan which identifies, analyzes and plans to successfully address the major factors that affect what and how students learn. Additionally, there will be careful consideration given to factors which affect schools and students over the foreseeable future

3. Be guided by the MCPS core values:
   a) Every child can learn and succeed
   b) The pursuit of excellence is fundamental and unending
   c) An ethical school system requires fair treatment, honesty, openness, integrity, and respect
   d) A high quality school system strives to be responsive and accountable to the customer

4. Provide for ongoing monitoring and continuous improvement

5. Ensure the alignment of MCPS’ strategic plan with state and federal requirements

6. Predicate major budget priorities on the strategic plan, as reflected in both the proposed and adopted capital and operating budgets

C. POSITION
1. Board participation

The Board will participate in strategic planning through several means:

a) An annual meeting with the superintendent and senior staff to review progress on the implementation of priorities, initiatives and strategic plans to determine which goals have been achieved, whether any new efforts are needed, and to review major issues that may affect the future

b) It will also consider and act upon objectives and major activities proposed by the superintendent to achieve long-range goals

c) Through its standing Strategic Planning Committee, the Board shall provide leadership and monitor the progress of the strategic plan and receive recommendations for its consideration

d) The Board’s agenda-setting process shall determine from time to time specific initiatives and priorities to be addressed as part of a business meeting

2. Planning procedures

The superintendent will develop a comprehensive strategic planning process for all schools and offices.

3. Staff, student, parent, and community involvement

The Board will actively seek the participation of a broad range of internal and external stakeholders representing the rich culture and linguistic diversity of the community in the strategic planning process.

4. Progress reports

The Strategic Planning Committee will provide the Board with periodic reports on the progress and success of the strategic plan and its planning process.

D. DESIRED OUTCOMES

This policy will be reviewed in accordance with the Board of Education policy review process.

Re: FINAL ACTION ON POLICY JED – RESIDENCY, TUITION, AND ENROLLMENT

On motion of the Policy Committee, the following resolution was placed on the table:

WHEREAS, Policy JED, Residency, Tuition, and Enrollment, sets forth the objectives to be followed with regard to the student enrollment process, the criteria for determining residency, and the circumstances when tuition will be charged; and

WHEREAS, The draft revision of Policy JED, Residency, Tuition, and Enrollment, was tentatively adopted by the Board of Education on February 10, 2004, and sent out for public comment; and

WHEREAS, The Board of Education has received comments and the superintendent’s recommendations thereto; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Board of Education adopt Policy JED, Residency, Tuition, and Enrollment, as revised.

RESIDENCY, TUITION, AND ENROLLMENT

A. PURPOSE

The Board of Education is committed to an effective, efficient, and equitable enrollment process for all eligible Montgomery County school-aged children.

B. ISSUE

All qualified school-aged individuals, whether U.S. citizens or noncitizens, who have an established bona fide residence in Montgomery County are to be admitted free to the Montgomery County Public Schools. There are circumstances that exist where students who are not residents of Montgomery County want or need to attend schools here; therefore, issues of residency and the processes for paying tuition must be clearly articulated.
C. POSITION

The Board of Education of Montgomery County supports the right of its residents to a free public education.

1. Bona fide residence is one's principal residence, maintained in good faith, and does not include a residence established for convenience or for the purpose of free school attendance in the Montgomery County Public Schools. However, an intent to reside indefinitely or permanently at the present place of residence is not necessarily required. Determination of a person's bona fide residence is a factual one and must be made on an individual basis.

2. All qualified school-aged individuals, whether U.S. citizens or noncitizens, who have an established bona fide residence in Montgomery County will be considered resident students and will be admitted free to the Montgomery County Public Schools.

3. All qualified school-aged individuals, whether U.S. citizens or noncitizens, who do not have an established bona fide residence in Montgomery County, will be considered nonresident students and will be subject to paying tuition unless an exception is made under the terms of this policy.

   a) A qualified student placed in a group home or foster home located in Montgomery County by an out-of-state agency other than those specified in Section 4-122 of the Education Article, Annotated Code of Maryland, shall be presumed to be a nonresident student.

   b) In the absence of evidence to the contrary, a qualified student who is a resident of another educational jurisdiction, but who elects to seek enrollment in a Montgomery County public school shall be presumed to be a nonresident student.

   c) In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the bona fide residence of a qualified student who is under 18 years of age and not emancipated shall be presumed to be the bona fide residence of both or one of the child's parents. Throughout this policy and any implementing regulations, if the parents live apart, use of the word "parent" shall mean (1) the parent to whom legal custody is awarded or (2) if legal custody is not awarded, the parent with whom the child regularly lives; and the child's bona fide residence shall be determined accordingly.

   d) In the absence of evidence to the contrary, a qualified student residing with a court-appointed guardian who has an established bona fide residence in Montgomery County shall be presumed to be a resident student provided that the guardianship was obtained for reasons concerning the child and not for the primary purpose of attending school or for the convenience of the persons involved.

e) Qualified identified Montgomery County students who are homeless shall be enrolled in accordance with Regulation JEA-RD.

f) A qualified student placed in a group home or foster home in Montgomery County by social service agencies of the State of Maryland, or any other agency specified in Section 4-122 of the Education Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland shall be presumed to be a resident student for whom the Montgomery County Public Schools is eligible for reimbursement of actual educational expenses by another local educational agency or the State of Maryland.

g) A qualified student who is a resident of Maryland residing in a valid kinship care arrangement pursuant to Section 4-122 of the Education Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland will be presumed to be a resident student for whom the Montgomery County Public Schools is eligible for reimbursement of actual educational expenses by another local education agency or the State of Maryland.

4. The Residency Compliance Unit will make individual determinations of residency. Individual determinations of residency by the Residency Compliance Unit will be re-evaluated at least annually. The Residency Compliance Unit will make determinations in the following cases:

a) There is evidence rebutting the presumption of residency or nonresidency set forth in Section 3

b) When there is a qualified student who is 18 years of age or older and essentially self-supporting or an emancipated minor who may or may not have established a bona fide residence in Montgomery County without regard to the residency of the parents

c) When there is a qualified student under 18 years of age who is living in Montgomery County with friends or relatives who are not parents or court-appointed guardians

In addition to individual verification, MCPS reserves the right to initiate specific grade level or schoolwide residency verification activities. The burden of producing evidence establishing bona fide residence is on the student or individual acting on behalf of the student.

5. Admission of Nonresident Students

   a) Regardless of their willingness to pay tuition, nonresident students may be denied admission to the Montgomery County Public Schools.

   b) Except to the extent to which the implementing regulation provides for either a grace period or permits a deposit to be made during the pendency of an appeal of a determination of nonresidency, before a nonresident student is enrolled in the Montgomery County Public Schools, tuition will be charged and paid unless a waiver is granted as provided below:

      (1) The nonresident student is residing in Montgomery County with a host family for a maximum of one year and has met the criteria established and detailed in MCPS Regulation JEA-RC, Enrollment and Placement of International and Foreign Students, including the approval by the supervisor of the International Student Admissions Office

      (2) There is a crisis, unusual and extraordinary circumstances fully documented by the parent, guardian, or emancipated student, justifying waiver of tuition

   c) Tuition rates will be established annually by the Board of Education upon the recommendation of the superintendent of schools.

   d) A nonresident student applicant may request a specific school; however, MCPS reserves the right to determine the school of enrollment.

6. Responsibilities

   a) Parents, guardians, or students who have reached the age of majority are responsible for signing an affidavit as to their bona fide residence or nonresidence in Montgomery County as a prerequisite to a student’s initial enrollment in the Montgomery County Public Schools. Additionally, there is an acknowledgment that tuition will be paid for any period(s) of nonresidency, even if the period(s) of nonresidency should occur or be identified after the date of initial enrollment.
b) The school principal or designee (or the International Student Admissions Office for noncitizens who have not attended school within the United States for the prior two years) is responsible for making the initial determination of the residency status of students who seek enrollment in a Montgomery County public school and, based on that determination, for taking the appropriate administrative steps specified in MCPS regulations.

c) The Residency Compliance Unit is responsible for determining the residency and tuition status of all students referred to it by the individual schools or the International Student Admissions Office.

7. Appeals

Decisions made under this policy and any implementing regulations may be appealed under the provisions of Regulation KLA-RA: Responding to Citizen Inquiries and Complaints from the Public. The superintendent or a designee may assign a hearing officer to hear residency and tuition appeal cases on the superintendent’s behalf and make recommendations to the superintendent or designee.

D. DESIRED OUTCOME

An effective, efficient, and equitable enrollment process which ensures the right of eligible students to a free public education and minimizes barriers for enrollment.

E. REVIEW AND REPORTING

1. The superintendent will provide a report to the Board of Education at least annually regarding the enrollment of nonresident students and tuition payments.

2. This policy will be reviewed in accordance with the Board of Education Policy BFA, Policysetting.

The school principal or designee (or the International Student Admissions Office for noncitizens who have not attended school within the United States at any time during the prior two years) is responsible for making the initial determination of the residency status of students who seek enrollment in a Montgomery County public school and, based on that determination, for taking the appropriate administrative steps specified in MCPS regulations.

Re: PRESENTATION ON THE COMMUNITY USE OF SCHOOLS

Ms. Cox invited the following people to the table: Ms. Ginny Gong, director – Community Use of Public Facilities; Karen Askin, chair of the Interagency Coordinating Board (ICB); Robert Muller, vice chair of the ICB; Stephen Farber, member and staff director of the Montgomery County Council; and Bruce Romer, member and chief administrative officer, Montgomery County.

The chair explained that since 1978, the Interagency Coordinating Board (ICB) for Community Use of Public Facilities (CUPF) has helped to make public facilities accessible and affordable year round for community activities and to bring services to county residents at public school sites. This "cutting-edge" concept is another of Montgomery County's successful models of creative partnerships and quality customer service. The ICB, whose membership includes decision-makers from the various county stakeholder agencies, formulates policies that equitably balance the needs of community use with those of the school system's instructional programs.

With the guidance of the ICB's advisory committees, an appropriate balance of user fees and reimbursements to the school system for shared use is maintained. CUPF operates solely as an enterprise fund, supported totally by fees from community users and no taxpayer dollars. In addition to reimbursing the school system for hours of use, utilities, and staff costs (totaling about $3,500,000), monies are also expended to support other initiatives such as the Afterschool Activities Program, modem sound access, security cameras, security gates, field renovations, etc. The IGB also reimburses the county's general fund for the office's administrative costs.

What do these ICB policies mean to the citizens of Montgomery County? When implemented by CUPF, they become the key to a variety of exciting community activities in schools and other public facilities. Before and after the school bell rings and throughout the weekend, from morning to late evening, these activities continue in the majority of the 190 schools (indoors and outdoors), 20 libraries, 39 closed schools and other public facilities. Private and public organizations, businesses, and individuals are all welcome to use the county's public schools and facilities.

The staff was excited about a number of improvements in the processing of facility requests, thanks to technology. Online submission and centralized scheduling has been very well received by both users and MCPS staff.

CUPF staff is committed to delivering quality customer service. They welcome the opportunity to assist in planning any meeting, sports event, concert, cultural celebration, fundraiser; or any other event open to the public but no private celebrations, such as weddings, anniversaries, or birthday parties.
Mrs. O’Neill complimented the ICB and CUPF on their respective jobs and the huge volume of users. County facilities should be used by residents, but there must be a balance of reasonable use opposed to overuse. Faced with rising utility and maintenance costs, she encouraged the ICB to evaluate frequently the fee structure.

Ms. Cox thought that one of the issues is where the policy originates. The philosophy is driven by the county, which created the ICB. There needs to be a discussion at the county government level to ascertain its expectation as the concept has evolved, especially with fiscal constraints. She asked if the ICB could change the fee structure to recoup long-range costs. Mr. Romer commented that the ICB is set in county law with a careful mandated structure. He viewed it as a partnership with the county’s citizens. The ICB is willing to work with the school system to reevaluate the cost structure. The community use of public facilities provides low-cost, safe meeting space to support community groups and relieves pressure on the county budget. Ms. Gong added that state law mandates the use of public facilities. Ms. Cox remarked that the philosophy for reimbursement is driven strictly by the membership of the ICB.

Mr. Felton noted that CUPF is a great goal, and the entire community can be committed to that concept. The problem is that on one hand the community wants affordable meeting places, and on the other hand there is an actual cost. It should be clear what the actual cost is to ascertain whether to subsidize with county funds or charge the actual cost. Ms. Askin stated that she viewed community use as she did education in general. Everyone knows what it costs to educate a student, but most taxpayers do not come close to paying that cost. It is shared by all taxpayers. The question is how to share the costs in a partnership. She felt that users could not bear the full cost of “renting” the facility. Mr. Felton agreed, but the budget process has to deal with the “partnership” costs. It is hard to focus people’s attention if they do not know the real cost.

Dr. Weast thought it was a good idea for the boards to get together. It is laudable to use public facilities, but buildings wear out quicker than they can be repaired with the amount of use the buildings receive. The Capital Improvements Program is $907 million, but 23 projects were eliminated. The school system has to figure out how the ICB assists with passing on the costs or the county needs to provide a supplement. Therefore, it is a funding issue at the governance level – not the two boards. He thought the school system had a difficult time explaining to parents why buildings cannot be modernized, maintained, and new building constructed. Furthermore, there is a need to increase before- and afterschool usage of facilities in order to educate and mentor children.

Mrs. O’Neill pointed out that CUPF staff went to the MCCPTA delegate assembly to explain the scheduling of facilities and planning ahead. Ms. Askin replied that there is ongoing training.
Ms. Cox had heard that there should be a policy for principals on the use of the building, but she thought it was more of a communication issue. Ms. Askin responded that there are creative principals and they make deals that the CUPF does not know about until security alerts them to the usage.

Ms. Cox thought there should be a systematic communication method, and the CUPF staff could work with community superintendents to provide a discussion group to resolve problems. Ms. Askin agreed that would be helpful if the school system made that a priority. She thought the CUPF did an excellent job communicating with staff when there are problems. Users are very sophisticated and they learn quickly from one another. Ms. Cox suggested that Mr. Hawes could facilitate getting the parties together to discuss issues and what problems can be eliminated through better communication.

Mr. Lange believed the discussion had been helpful. He reiterated the Board’s commitment to community use of the facilities which is embedded in all design plans. He asked if CUPF meets with new principals or if there is a training program. Ms. Gong replied that she meets with new principals and cluster representatives and conducts other outreach activities.

Mr. Romero asked about the scale of use by CUPF. He suggested a life-cycle cost analysis or other information to work together to develop a fee structure or supplement for actual costs. Dr. Weast replied that the school system has the data, and the usage of the facility is covered by funds for repair or renovation. Mr. Hawes added that the analysis was to determine the cost to get all buildings in good working order with preventive, operating, and capital replacement. The school system is far short of the funding it would require, and there is a portion that should come from outside users. With those numbers, the ICB agreed to hire a consultant to recommend solutions.

Dr. Weast reiterated that the discussion was really about funding. There needs to be coordination and communication, but, in the life-cycle of the buildings, the cost is greater than the reimbursement.

Re: BOARD/SUPERINTENDENT COMMENTS

Ms. Cox noted that this was Mr. Felton’s last meeting as a Board member. She thanked him for his nine years of service.

Mr. Felton commented that it was a pleasure to serve on the Board, and he enjoyed every Board and all the meetings.

Mrs. O’Neill commented that it was a privilege to serve with Mr. Felton, and she remembered the good and the tough times. His humor and compassion helped the Board through those times. She stated that she would miss him as a colleague at the Board table.
Dr. Weast agreed that the Board would miss Mr. Felton. However, he thought Mr. Felton would soon find himself in public service. The school system had won a gold medallion award from the National Public Relations Association for the redesigned Web site. Also, there is a new guide to MCPS called Navigating the System. Finally, he thanked Walter Johnson High School on how it handled a very difficult situation with the death of the lacrosse captain.

Mr. Lange noted that the Board was involved in graduations, and he thought it was significant that so many students have been accepted to universities and have received scholarships. There are a number of students who are the first in their family to receive a high school diploma. Also, he was very impressed with the hands-on experience provided students through the Construction Trades Foundation.

Mr. Romero commented that he was very impressed with the Fox Chapel Opera and the costumes. Also, the graduation of MCPS students is very inspiring.

Mr. Sanghvi reported that he will be teaching a workshop on involving students in student government.

Mrs. O’Neill thought the best part of being a Board member was the graduations. Also, the opera programs are wonderful since the operas are student produced from the writing of the operas to the performances.

Mr. Burnett commented that each graduation is very different, and he will miss officiating at graduations after his term on the Board.

Dr. Haughey attended the awards ceremony for the Middle Years Programme, signature programs, and student legislative hearings. He was very impressed with the education in middle schools.

Ms. Cox reported that the parents and students of the Middle Years Programme were very happy with Dr. Haughey’s resolution to award those students certificates. She echoed her colleagues’ sentiments about graduations, and the hard work of students, parents, and staff.
