Re: DISCUSSION

Mr. Abrams stated that Redland Middle School was put in the CIP in 2001 for something less than a full modernization, but those areas needed to be fixed until a renovation could take place at a cost of $22 million. He was concerned about spending less than was needed to cosmetically fix the building. He thought there was a need to look at the CIP structure to determine what projects are scheduled and why. If there is a need for a deferral of the project, there must be a very good reason for that delay and the project needs to stay on a timeline for completion. Mr. Abrams was concerned that if the projects are bumped again, no one could give him a good answer on when these projects would be rescheduled and completed because the need has not changed. Finally, he said he believes that the CIP mechanism is not geared to adjust as quickly as needed and in a rationale fashion.

Furthermore, Mr. Abrams questioned the value of the public hearings. He asked staff to report on the conditions at Maryvale Elementary School, prompted by the testimony at a hearing. Staff stated that the building is not new but serviceable. All restrooms have been renovated, and staff could not find the conditions reported. Mr. Abrams stated that the Board does listen and acts when there are concerns expressed through testimony.
Mr. Abrams asked what the proposal funds for Redland Middle School would make a difference to improve the school’s instructional program. Staff explained that the original scope of the work would expend the existing walls for acoustical isolation, modify duct work, replace interior lighting, ceiling tile and grids, interior painting, replace floor in designed areas, security system at the main entrance, and separate bus loop. For an additional $6.5 million, the work would move the administration suite, renovate classrooms, science labs, technology labs, and interior circulation issues.

Mrs. O’Neill was glad that the staff had checked out the reported situation at Maryvale Elementary School. She pointed out that all schools have needs, and it is important for those testifying to listen to each other because the needs are similar. It is the Board’s job to make decisions within the amount of money that is available.

Re: AMENDMENT

On motion of Mrs. O’Neill and seconded by Dr. Docca, the following amendment was placed on the table:

Resolved, That the Board of Education direct the superintendent of schools to move money from architectural fees to do a feasibility study to determine and review segmented options addressing the primary concerns of the community for future improvements at Ridgeview Middle School: and be it further

Resolved, That the Board of Education appropriates $150,000 for whiteboards for Ridgeview Middle School.

RESOLUTION NO. 553-07 Re: DIVIDE THE QUESTION

On motion of Ms. Cox and seconded by Mr. Abrams, the following motion was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the Board of Education divide the question.

Re: DISCUSSION

Mr. Abrams supported the $150,000 for the whiteboards. However, he had some qualms about the segmented options at Ridgeview Middle School, since it might send the wrong message. The Ridgeview community stated that the projects that were being deferred are it’s top priority, and the scheduled projects would not make that much of a difference. In fact, there should be a review of how the project was placed in the CIP in the first place, which was a whole project that would last until a full renovation was scheduled. What are the implications of segmenting the project? With the acknowledgment that Ridgeview will not lose its place, even though projects were deferred, the scope will be determined from the results of the study. Mrs. O’Neill said that was the intent of the motion, not to lose the essence of what really needs to be done at Ridgeview.

Ms. Cox asked for more clarity about the feasibility study. She said it sounded like the intent would guarantee that the project would be included in a future CIP. The Board should have qualms about dictating what has to go into future CIPs. If the feasibility study is for information for a recommendation, then she was ready to support the amendment. However, if it is a requirement, she thought the Board was overstepping the process.

Mr. Abrams stated that his intent and concern were that it should not be scrutinized, but all the feedback he was getting was that once the project was deleted, it would never reappear in the CIP. He wanted to make sure that consideration is still given based on a prior judgment of an imminent need. If that becomes less of a priority, then that needs to be brought to the Board with that assessment. That recommendation needs to be made prior to a hearing when the community expects that the CIP would be funded with their project.

Ms. Cox thought there could be language in the motion that indicates that it is a review of the potential and possibility on segmented options for future improvements and a report from the superintendent on recommendations.

Dr. Docca agreed with Mr. Abrams that the renovation should not be lost, but the school needs construction to make the it more manageable.

Ms. Brandman thought that the general consensus in the community was to prioritize the health and safety concerns surrounding the HVAC system. They understood that the $6 million could repair a chiller, replace five of the nine air handlers, and replace the VAV boxes. With a feasibility study, there may be ways to zone the building differently and improve the HVAC system.

Mr. Abrams thought that, by force or political courage, there are other alternatives that merit exploration to increase capacity and use of existing facilities instead of continually building under the current model, especially with ebbs and flows of enrollment. There is no magic in the seven-period day, and the system could get an additional 15 percent more capacity out of existing facilities. However, the system needs to be rational using the current policies and things cannot be shifted when there is no money.

Mrs. O’Neill commented that it was not her intention to lock the school system into spending $27 million. She wanted to know about options for segmenting the renovation. What has to be done and done together?

Ms. Cox wanted to amend the resolution by adding improvements where the funding was allotted to address the concerns of the community and then report back to the Board on the items that cannot be addressed with the funding allotted.
Mr. Abrams commented that the Board wants to avoid waste, and should always be looking for ways in which the system can utilize the money that is being recommended to be consistent with an orderly approach to remedy the issues at Ridgeview Middle School. If it can be done, do it. If not, recommend an alternative.

Mr. Barclay thought it was an information request, and it would not lock the system into spending money. The community is concerned that everything is lost when a project is reduced. He said he thought the process needed to be examined since it is opaque to the public. When there are competing factors, the community needs to know that the project will not be lost but delayed. There is a need to know the running list of projects.

Staff stated that the feasibility study would consult with the community to ascertain its priorities and incorporate those items into the project. Beyond that, it will be determined what else can be done in segmented options for future improvements.

RESOLUTION NO. 554-07  Re: AMENDMENT

On motion of Mrs. O’Neill and seconded by Dr. Docca, the following amendment was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the Board of Education direct the superintendent of schools to move money from architectural fees to do a feasibility study to determine and review segmented options addressing the primary concerns of the community for future improvements at Ridgeview Middle School.

RESOLUTION NO. 555-07  Re: AMENDMENT

On motion of Mrs. O’Neill and seconded by Dr. Docca, the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the Board of Education appropriates $150,000 for whiteboards for Ridgeview Middle School.

Re: DISCUSSION

Ms. Cox stated that the Board needs to understand the criteria that staff uses within the priorities. How does staff make the decisions? She said there should be a work session on explanation on facilities and how we weigh and balance projects and what is the tipping point with priorities. Ms. Brandman wanted to know the scope of the needs in the schools and the schedule for HVAC and PLAR projects. What is the impact on older buildings? Mr. Barclay suggested that the Board review the process.

RESOLUTION NO. 556-07  Re: AMENDMENT
On motion of Ms. Cox and seconded by Mr. Abrams, the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the Board of Education expands the Clarksburg/Damascus middle school feasibility study to include a possible addition at Montgomery Village Middle School, at a cost of $38,000.
