Re: DISCUSSION

Ms. Berthiaume had several questions about the installation of artificial turf at Walter Johnson High School:

a) Is there a hold harmless agreement with the turf vendor?
b) Who is liable if MCPS is sued?
c) Is the product guaranteed to be lead free?
d) Are there other chemicals in the artificial turf?
e) Will the turf leach chemicals and, if so, will the fields be closed?
f) Will the fields be monitored?

Mr. Barclay thought it was important to get clear information on the artificial turf. If there are carcinogens, what is the level and exposure that would be harmful? What is the rate of exposure?

Re: BOARD/SUPERINTENDENT COMMENTS

Mr. Hwang stated that he was please to be a member of the Board, and he looked forward to working together this coming year.

Mr. Barclay welcomed Mr. Hwang to the Board of Education to represent the views of students and participate in discussions. He commented on the graduation of students from Alternative Programs, and he congratulated the students for passing the HSAs and course requirements. Finally, he participated in the African American Festival of Academic Excellence. He said it was a fantastic opportunity to see the students and families participate in the festival.
Dr. Docca reported that she had attended (1) a meeting with students interested in environmental issues; (2) a performance of the National Philharmonic at Strathmore Hall with middle school students; (3) an opera at Farmland Elementary School; (4) Montgomery College’s commencement; (5) the African American Festival of Academic Excellence; and (6) the ACT-SO Awards.

Dr. Weast commented that more than 10,000 high school students and students in alternative programs are graduating and receiving diplomas from MCPS this spring. Thirty-one schools and programs have scheduled graduation ceremonies through June 12. As always, many graduating seniors choose classroom teachers and school administrators as graduation speakers—a testament to their appreciation of the education they have received.

Dr. Weast added that it was his pleasure to attend the African American Festival of Academic Excellence, now in its 20th year, at the University of Maryland. In addition to the Board and many MCPS colleagues, attendees included County Executive Isaiah Leggett, County Council Education Chair Valerie Ervin, and Delegate Herman Taylor. That is a real tribute to the students and to the program, he said.

RESOLUTION NO. 264-09  Re:  HUMAN RESOURCES APPOINTMENT

On recommendation of the superintendent and on motion of Mrs. O’Neill seconded by Mr. Barclay, the following resolution was adopted unanimously by members present:

Resolved, That the following personnel appointment be approved effective July 1, 2009:
Dr. Weast invited the following people to the table: Mr. Erick J. Lang, associate superintendent, Office of Curriculum and Instructional Programs; Mrs. Linda E. Ferrell, director, Middle School Instruction and Achievement; Ms. Jeannie Dawson, principal, Earle B. Wood Middle School; Ms. Dana E. Davison, assistant principal, Shady Grove Middle School; Miss Denise M. DeFiore, instructional specialist, Staff Development Teacher Project; and Mr. George Mayo, teacher, Silver Spring International Middle School.

The Middle School Reform initiative is a part of Our Call to Action: Pursuit of Excellence, the overall strategic plan to improve academic performance and eliminate the achievement gap in Montgomery County Public Schools (MCPS). The Middle School Reform Plan is designed to prepare middle school students to meet the academic standards required for high school and college success. This update highlights three themes: (1) engaging and rigorous instruction, (2) effective instructional leadership, and (3) professional development.

Middle School Reform is a multiyear initiative that provides resources to all 38 middle schools. The allocation of specific resources is granted based on participation in Phase I and Phase II of the plan's implementation as outlined in Attachment A. Phase I began in Fiscal Year (FY) 2008 with five Phase I middle schools: Benjamin Banneker, Roberto W. Clemente, Montgomery Village, Sligo, and Earle B. Wood. In FY 2009, the following 10 additional schools were identified to participate in Phase II: Eastern, Gaithersburg, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Col. E. Brooke Lee, Newport Mill, Shady Grove, Silver Spring International, Tilden, Julius West, and White Oak middle schools.

The Middle School Reform Report (Weast 2007) is a comprehensive plan that is based on national research, the extensive work of more than 200 stakeholders, and the revision of Board Policy IEB, Middle School Education. The goals and recommended actions of the Middle School Reform Report were presented to and approved by the Board of Education in FY 2007.

The original implementation of Middle School Reform was a three-year, $10 million reform effort for all 38 middle schools. Staff members identified existing resources to be realigned to support the funding of the plan. The additional resources needed to fund Phase I and Phase II of the reform totaled approximately $2.5 million and $2.9 million, respectively. The projection for the remaining schools, based on FY 2010 costs, would be approximately $8.0 million. Despite budgetary constraints, MCPS is committed to moving forward with the initiative. However, the implementation plan has been extended with future phases of Middle School Reform, contingent on the MCPS budget.

The Middle School Reform program outcomes are expected to be improved student achievement, increased enrollment in and successful completion of advanced courses, reduced suspensions and ineligibility, and the elimination of the achievement gap.

The Middle School Reform initiative is an important component in the school system's work to prepare every child to succeed in college. The plan is beginning to effect change in the beliefs, attitudes, and practices of staff members and students are being exposed to challenging and engaging coursework. We will continue to refine and improve implementation of the initiative across all middle schools to ensure that all students gain the knowledge and skills they will need to meet the high academic standards of high school and beyond.

Re: DISCUSSION

Mr. Barclay noted that schools analyze the data and determine next steps. What are the criteria for making those determinations? Staff replied that the staff development teachers are trained and the criteria for success are designed up front throughout the school system.

Ms. Brandman wanted to know about enduring understandings of the adolescent learner, especially that academic feedback is more strongly and consistently related to achievement than any other teaching behavior. Staff explained that this statement was based on research that is used in studying skillful teaching. Feedback to students is crucial in learning and achievement.

Mr. Barclay asked if there was an element to help students receive or ask for feedback. Staff explained that the training for teachers deals with the effective components of feedback to students, and this year there will be an expansion of those techniques, such as tone and word choices. Dr. Docca agreed that teacher feedback to students is essential to being a skillful teacher.

Mr. Kauffman asked what professional development is provided to teachers in middle school when high school courses are moved to the middle school. Staff replied that every time a course is developed, the teachers receive direct professional development with the elective and core courses.
Ms. Berthiaume asked staff to provide information about the specific content units taught in 8th grade algebra.

Ms. Brandman asked what the system has learned with the successful instruction. Staff replied that data are used to provoke conversations to provide better instruction for all students. Planning time together allows for these conversations in content areas.

Due to budget constraints, Mr. Barclay asked how the decrease in literacy coaches and math content specialists will be addressed. Staff worked with principals to shift positions based on the instructional needs of the students in their schools.

Mr. Barclay asked what staff does to keep the student achieving when there are weaknesses in a student’s education. Staff members assess students continually to determine what students should know and what they already know to develop instructional goals for all students.

Mrs. O’Neill was concerned about the implementation of middle school reform for the remaining middle schools. Staff stated that the phased-in approach was to evaluate the implementation and impact of the reform. There is a need to evaluate the rationale for the added positions and professional development. Before systemwide rollout, there is a need to assess the value and effect on teaching and learning.
