The Judy Center Early Learning Hub

at Summit Hall Elementary School

Family Engagement

The Judy Center families will take their first field trip of the year to visit Imagination Stage in Bethesda for an interactive, toddler and sensory friendly performance of "Mouse on the Move".

Our SNAP-Ed partnership continues to support our families with parent/child cooking classes on Zoom. This month, families will have the opportunity to make a health Enchilada Casserole as well as a fabulous dish of Beans and Greens.

Professional Development

Support for professional development activities will resume very soon. Please check your emails for the link to our Professional Development Needs Survey. Results will be compiled and used to identify the PD needs of our partners and stakeholders. If you need another link or would like to identify an alternate person, please contact Dr. Anderson so that they may be added to our mailing list.

The winter weather has arrived early and we continue to accept donations of new or used coats for adults and children. Please contact us if you wish to donate.

Learning Opportunities for Parents

Judy Center parents continue to use the Ready Rosie online platform to learn new ways to engage their children in learning through everyday routines. In January we will introduce our first Virtual Ready Rosie Parent Workshop titled "You Can Make a Difference". Following each class, parents will receive learning materials for their children as well as be entered into a raffle to win a family prize.

Parents using Rosetta Stone English Language Classes continue to make progress. This month's check in will be on January 29th and rewards will be given for progressing to another level. Parents who are interested in in-person classes can be referred to the classes facilitated by the SHES Community School Liaison, Marga Aldiego.
