

Special
Olympics
Maryland

Glen Haven Elementary School Unified Club Newsletter

December 2019

Hello Glen Haven Families!

The fourth-grade students had the opportunity to join art with the SCB classes this month. Last week the SCB students painted scales for their Rainbow Fish project and today the 4th graders helped the SCB students glue the scales down. When we had the opportunity to debrief with the fourth-grade students they were so excited we could barely hear them they were talking too fast!

We could all learn a little bit from our children. We would like to close out this month's newsletter with wise words from Jonathan, " You should always be respectful no matter what, everyone has something to offer. It doesn't matter that we are different, they are still people and we need to treat them nice."

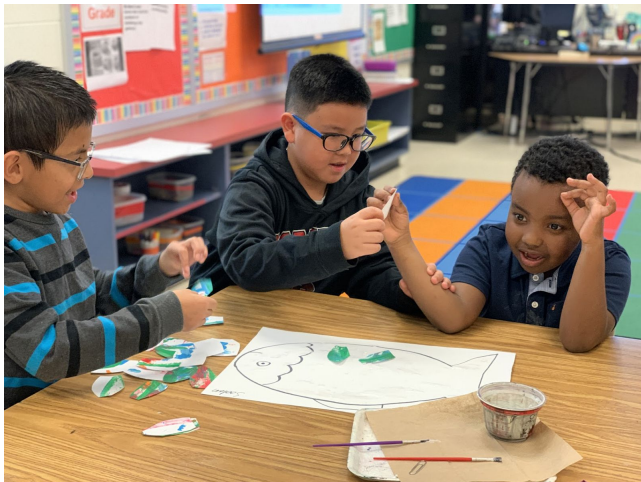

Sarah McKinley, Brittany Petty, Blake Keats, Liz Bowen, & MaryJo Stolte

It was emotional at the end because Carlos wanted to come with us. Carlos was amazing because he was doing a good job, trying his best, and didn't give up. I can't wait to do it again next month- Jose

Yaseen has the same personality as me, because he likes to sleep just like me - Morgan

After I showed Amha what to do with the glue he was able to do it himself, it made me and him feel proud- Jessica

It was fun because it looked like I was helping Jeffrey have fun - Amaka

Special
Olympics
Maryland

Glen Haven Elementary School Unified Club Newsletter

They were kind and caring and we really liked creating art with them -
Marcus and Brandy

They will learn how to do things, just a little different than us - Aden

