Linkages to Learning at Maryvale Elementary School is a collaborative initiative between the Montgomery County Government's Department of Health and Human Services, The City of Rockville, Sheppard Pratt, and Montgomery County Public Schools.

Our staff assists students and parents in school, at home, and in the community.
Our Services include:

- Community School Coordination – Plans, develops, coordinates and supervises programs for students and parents at Maryvale Elementary School in response to student and family's needs, accesses and coordinates necessary resources and services. Programs include morning, afternoon, and evening educational and recreational programs for parents and students such as mentoring, tutoring for students and workshops for parents that include topics on, money management, school readiness, health and wellness programs, and positive parenting etc.
- Family Case Management Services – Help link families to resources, so they can obtain medical and dental health care. Connects families with employment, recreation activities for adults and children, adult education services, and emergency services regarding housing, financial, and food assistance and other household needs. Assists with connecting to legal and immigration resources and other supportive services. Supports parents with navigating the school system and community social services which includes family/child advocacy and translation assistance when needed.
- Mental Health Services – Provides individual, group, and family therapy for students. Lead mental health groups and therapeutic recreation activities. Consultation with school staff and local agencies. Assists parents in accessing care for children who are insured, underinsured, or uninsured.

Linkages to Learning is an early intervention and prevention program.
