- On this day in history, Dec. 7, 1941, Imperial Japan launched a Sunday morning surprise attack on the U.S. Navy and other military assets at Pearl Harbor. The attack on Pearl Harbor killed 2,403 Americans, launching the US into WWII. Japan had hoped to stun the American people into docility, as its army and navy swiftly conquered territory across Asia and the Pacific Ocean. The attack on Pearl Harbor instead forged the resolve of the American people and proved the greatest miscalculation in military history. A moment of silence for the sailors, soldiers and airmen who overcame the shock of the sudden attack and quickly began to fight back. THANK YOU.
