

Announcements 11-4-22

- Welcome to our celebration of Native American Month. Did you know there are over 9 million Native Americans and Native Alaskans living in the United States today. And with over 500 federally recognized tribes, there are hundreds of different cultures that are as unique as the people they represent. That was our moment in Native American History.
- Attention seniors: Salisbury University is hosting on-site admissions conversations at Northwest on November 28. Salisbury applications must be submitted by November 22. To participate in the individual interviews, check your Naviance email for the RSVP link or visit the College Career web page. RSVP deadline is November 21.
- Students are reminded to check out the e-NEWS College Career Bulletin for all college career related news and information. Download the bulletin from the college career web page. There are three new scholarship opportunities available. First, the GE-Reagan Foundation Scholarship. Up to $10,000 renewable for 4 years. Deadline to apply is January 5.
- The Montgomery College Board of Trustees Academic Specialty Scholarship. One-year full tuition and fees to attend MC. Students must have applied to MC prior to applying for this scholarship. The priority deadline for application is March 1.
- The Bowie State University Montgomery County Chapter Scholarship for seniors applying to Bowie State. GPA requirement of 2.5 or higher. The deadline for application is May 15.
- Remember to register for the Historically Black Colleges and Universities Fair
- Links to all applications are available in the latest Jag Scholarship Apply Now Bulletin. Scan the QR Code on the poster at the College Career Information Center or on the web!
- Northwest Drama wants you to know that auditions for Northwest Got Talent are approaching. Winners in each category will get $100. See any drama student director for details or see their display in the auditorium lobby.
- Anyone interested in trying out for Girls Basketball, there is a meeting today during lunch in room 179.

- Anyone interested in trying out for wrestling should plan to attend Weight Certifications tomorrow. Information and the permission slip is on NorthwestAthletics.org.