SAT/ACT/Accuplacer Prep- Additional Resources

There are many options for SAT prep below are some of the options but not all. I will caution you to make sure the things you are using are for the "Redesigned SAT" and are copyrighted 2015 or newer... Be careful of things called the New SAT this was a term used around 2004 and 2005 and is now the old SAT...

1. ~~You can check out an official test review books written from Mrs. Polischek in room 1000W. (not an option during 20-21) (This will be treated like a text book and any lost or damaged book will become an obligation)~~
2. You can look for outside tutoring groups (I will list some below) but they vary in price and can be very expensive.
3. Enroll in some online prep classes they can be free or charge a small fee normally cheaper than the face to face classes.
4. Montgomery College is changing their placement testing, please see the Montgomery College Website for enrollment and placement testing requirements

Examples of Review Books

1. about $25.00 each
