

February 5, 2021

Dear Tilden Family,

February has been a busy month so far, with both registration and transition to the third marking period. This is also Black History Month, and despite the virtual setting, our students will have the opportunity to explore and learn about the immense contributions of African Americans to the fabric of this great nation via the curriculum throughout their classes, as well as in Advisory.

The Board of Education will be meeting next week to further discuss and make decisions about the partial re-opening plans. As we get closer to the opening, we will be sharing Tilden's plans for the partial in-person return. Those plans are not yet complete, as we are still waiting for several critical components from the District.

Here is the latest message from the District that came this evening: MCPS Message
